INTERNATIONAL SOCIOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION

A group of sociologists from various countries, having met in Oslo September 1949 under the auspices of UNESCO being convinced of the desirability and necessity of improving relations between sociologists of various countries, established the I.S.A. (Preamble of Statutes 1949 - 1970). The council of the I.S.A., having met in regular quadriennial session at Varna, September 1970, and having given due consideration to the many changes that have occurred in the Association, as well as in the broader world community of sociologists, adopted amendments to the Statutes originally agreed in Oslo. (Preamble of Statutes 1970). The International Sociological Association is an organization for purely scientific purpose. (Statutes I). The object of the association is to advance sociological knowledge throughout the world. To this end the Association shall undertake measures:

- To secure and to develop personal contacts between sociologists throughout the world.
- To encourage the international dissemination and exchange of information on significant developments in sociological knowledge.
- To facilitate and promote international sociological research. (Statutes II).

1. ORGANISATIONAL REPORTS

1. Toronto

Toronto is Canada's largest metropolis and enjoys a deserved reputation as one of North America's safest and most exciting cities. A wide variety of entertainment is to be found in the city, and the countryside of both Ontario and the neighbouring province of Quebec offer a range of vacation possibilities. Delegates wishing to obtain tourist information for Ontario should write to the Convention and Tourist Bureau of Metropolitan Toronto, 85 Richmond St. West, Toronto, Ontario, Canada M5H 1H9. Information for Quebec can be obtained from Department of Tourism, Parliament Buildings, Quebec City, Quebec, Canada G1A 1P8.

2. Immigration regulations for visitors to Canada

All visitors to Canada require a valid passport and a visa, except as follows:

- a) British subjects* and citizens of Commonwealth countries require a passport but do not require a visa.
- b) Citizens of the United States crossing the US-Canada border do not need a passport or visa. A birth certificate, voter's card or military identification is usually sufficient. Naturalized citizens must carry proof of citizenship.
- c) Citizens of other countries who are permanently resident in the United States may enter Canada from the US without a passport or visa, but must carry a US Alien Registration card.
- d) Citizens of the following countries require a passport, but do not require a visa:
Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, West Germany, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Lichtenstein, Luxembourg, Monaco, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, San Marino, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Republic of South Africa.

Delegates who require a visa are urged to apply for it at least one month before their expected departure for Canada.

Note: For entry to the USA, a separate visa is required. If you intend to visit the USA while in North America, please contact the United States embassy of consulate in your home country.

HAVE YOU CHECKED YOUR PASSPORT RECENTLY, TO BE CERTAIN IT DOES NOT EXPIRE UNTIL AFTER THE DATE OF YOUR RETURN FROM THE CONGRESS?

Vaccination: Canada requires that all visitors arriving from areas where smallpox is still endemic should be vaccinated. Visitors must be in apparent good health or quarantine regulations may be applied. Remember that you may require vaccination to get back into your own country especially if you stop at other countries en route to Canada.

Above information supplied by Canadian Government in October 1973. For certainty, it would be wise to confirm with the Canadian embassy in your country.

3. Local facilities

Facilities such as day care services will be available. Persons requiring this service are requested to write in advance, specifying age of children involved to «Day Care», CLAC/ISA, c/o Sociology Dept., University of Toronto, 563 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, Ontario, Canada M5S 1A1.

Information on other facilities such as local sight-seeing, tours, etc., will be contained in the survival-kit supplied to all registered delegates. For U.S. tours, pre and post Congress excursions, please refer to the enclosed travel folder.

4. Registration

The form for registration at the VIII World Congress of Sociology is included. This form is to be detached, completed and sent to the ISA Secretariat in Milan. Participants who return the completed form before March 15th have the advantage of paying a lower fee.

After June 30th 1974, the Milan Secretariat will not accept further registrations and those who wish to register must do so upon their arrival in Toronto. Friends and relatives of delegates are welcome and for these a nominal registration fee of $ 5 per person is required. (This amount is not to be sent with the registration form, but is to be paid in Toronto at the registration desk). This will entitle them to travel and hotel reservations at the same reduced cost available for Congress participants and to local sight-seeing facilities, although they will not be able to take part in the scientific proceedings of the Congress. They will also receive the survival-kit and the «Enjoy Toronto» guide book, but not the scientific material distributed to participants and students. - membership card and badge
- congress program
- a copy of the abstracts of congress papers
- up-dated list of official papers
- forms for ordering position papers
- survival kit information on local facilities
- a guide of Toronto and its neighbourhood.

A special desk for late registrations and registration of relatives will be opened on the university campus in the Sidney Smith Building. Days and times of opening are as follows:

Sunday	18th Aug.	14-23 hr.

ASA INVITES ISA COLLEAGUES TO ANNUAL MEETING IN MONTREAL

The 69th Annual Meeting of the American Sociological Association will be held in Montreal August 26-29, 1974 at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel. This meeting will follow immediately after the 8th World Congress of the ISA in Toronto, August 19-24. In planning its meetings, the ASA is taking note of this unique circumstance and has built into its program features that should be of special interest to ISA members.

The theme of this year's meeting, as announced by President Peter M. Blau, is « Focus on Social Structure ». Several plenary sessions will explore current developments in the structural approach which, according to President Blau, « is designed to explain not the behavior of individuals but the structure of relations among groups and individuals that finds expression in this behavior ». The ultimate objective, Blau adds, « is to advance by means of such sociological explanations our knowledge about society, how it changes, and how it can be changed ».

In addition to plenary sessions, panels, and seminars, the program affords opportunities for sociologists to submit papers (1,500 words by January 15, 1974) to organizers who are responsible for 61 sessions. Numbered among these sessions are the following with a particular international flavor: The Political Economy of the World System, Global Sociology, Cross-National Organizational Research, Comparative Study of Society, International Sociology: Problems and Avenues for Cooperation, and World Conflict. ISA members who would care to submit papers to ASA sessions may forward papers to the ASA office for transmission to session organizers. (Names of session organizers are posted in the August and November, 1973, issues of ASA FOOTNOTES sent to all ASA members).

Persons planning to attend the ISA Congress may receive registration forms for the ASA meetings in May, 1974 by requesting the same form the ASA (1722 N Street, N. W. Washington, D. C. 20036). The transition from ISA to ASA activities will start on Sunday evening, August 25, with a special plenary session to be followed by a reception to welcome the international community of sociologists to the Montreal meeting.

The general topic of this Ad Hoc Group has to do with the effects of housing on family and neighborhood life. It is an environment-social relations problem of a special order, dealing specifically with one part of the built environment. The inquiry involves housing not only as an independent variable, but also as a dependent one. Research directed towards preferences for different features or housing involves the element of the built environment as a dependent variable. The topic is extremely international.

professionally and substantively. The leading work in the area has been done in Europe, and the Congress would offer an opportunity for sociologists from other regions to benefit from the European expertise. Substantively, the problem is contemporary and international since it is of concern in all urban areas, especially in cases where there is governmental involvement in the supply of housing.

This group is concerned with elaborating the concept of « network » in the analysis of social structure and developing mathematical methods for extending the applications of this approach.

It is anticipated that a substantial, active contingent of participants in this speciality will attend the Congress. As one observes the rapidly growing interest in this field among mathematical social scientists, social anthropologists, and theorists and analysts of political-economic organisation, it seems likely that the sessions will also attract considerable attention from other sociologists.

The range of topics to be discussed can be defined with relation to the kind of problems identified by major social thinkers like Marx, Weber, Schumpeter, Pareto in their analysis of the relationship between the economy and society.

Four major types of analysis are proposed, which focus on:

- 1) Aspects of general social theory, such as the relationship between mode of production and social relations of production - in Marx's terms - and the relationship between economy and social arrangements and social forces - in Weber's terms - Specific examples are: ideology and economic organisation, classes and state economic policy, etc.;
- 2) The interrelationship between economic and social structures with specific reference to the process of formation of industrial society and to economic development. Specific examples: the division of labor and work organisation, social forces and actors of economic change, etc.
- 3) The application of the conceptual framework and explanatory models of Sociology to the study of economic processes, i.e. production, distribution, exchange and consumption. Specific examples: the analysis of the market, of entrepreneurship, of wants and consumer behaviour, etc.

4) The attempts of integration and fusion of the theoretical models and analytical categories of Economics and Sociology. For further information and for submitting papers write to Alberto Martinelli

ANNOUNCING A WORK GROUP IN COMPARATIVE PUBLIC POLICY (Research Committee on Political Sociology).

The Ford Foundation has made a grant for a collaborative study of comparative public policy in Europe under the direction of Richard Rose, Secretary of the Committee on Political Sociology and Professor of Politics at the University of Strathclyde, Glasgow. The $ 33,300 grant is for three years, as from 1st October 1974.

The purpose of the research is to develop a conceptual framework for the comparative analysis of major public policy issues in Europe, and to demonstrate the utility of the framework by applying it to substantive areas of public policy in European nations. The field of public policy issues suitable for comparative analysis is broad, ranging from welfare policies such as education, health and income distribution, through questions of economic management and income distribution, to crime, public order and international or supra-national relations. A major object will be to elucidate under what circumstances and within what areas (territorial or otherwise) social science concepts can be fruitfully employed. The research will draw upon the scholarly contacts established by the Committee on Political Sociology, a research committee of the International Sociological Association and the International Political Science Association. A substantial portion of the grant will be spent for conferences and meetings, so that scholars doing comparative policy studies can meet on a recurring basis to develop and apply a common conceptual vocabulary.

Concurrently, Professor Rose and others will circulate a series of papers about concepts, frameworks and hypotheses common to a wide range of comparative policy studies. For a preliminary discussion of the subject, see Richard Rose, « Comparing Public Policy », European Journal of Political Research 1:1 (1973).

Three meetings have already been held to identify common ground in social science approaches to policy studies. A Workshop at Strathclyde in June, 1972, held with the assistance of the European Consortium for Political Research, brought together political scientists with a wide variety of interests. The EJPR article draws together ideas in common use among participants. A conference on urban policy, held in London in April, 1973, with the co-operation of the Centre for Environmental Studies, and DATUM, Bonn/Bad Godesberg, brought together social scientists and public officials from two countries to examine a single substantive policy area. The papers will be published in The Management of Urban Change in Britain and Germany (Sage Publications, Spring, 1974), edited by Richard Rose. Panels at the International Political Sciences Association World Congress in Montreal, August, 1973, compared a variety of models of the polity, covering institutions of government, as well as specific policy contents.

In the next phase, the Committee's research effort will emphasize the cross-national comparison of policy contents e.g., health, education, land use, etc. A meeting will be held in Warsaw in May, 1974 to examine variations in public policy in Eastern and Western Europe. A second meeting will be held in spring, 1974, to examine how the dynamics of public policy vary from area to policy area, and country to country. The participants in this collaborative research are drawn from several academic disciplines, as well as from many countries. The focus on Europe is not meant to exclude comparisons with nations outside Europe. To control for the effects of economic development the research concentrates upon western industrial societies.

The materials arising in the course of research will be published in a variety of ways appropriate to their contents. One publication outlet will be the Committee's new series of Sage Professional Papers in Comparative Political Sociology.

Individual scholars currently working in the field of comparative public policy are invited to communicate their interest and details of research in progress to Professor Richard Rose at the Department of Politics, University of Strathclyde, Glasgow G1 1XQ, Scotland.

September 24-28, 1973:

XIII International Seminar on Family Research

This most successful seminar met from September 24-28, 1973, at the Musée des Arts et Traditions Populaires, Paris XVI, France. The Chairman and the organizing committee arranged a full program with several innovations both in content and in organization. From the standpoint of content, members of the seminar were drawn from four intellectual traditions: demography, ethnology, history and sociology. A second innovation was to select so that a majority of papers were devoted to the examination of a single conceptual framework, the developmental concept of the family life cycle. Added to this was a specific focus on the families of Europe. From the standpoint of organization, at the morning plenary session, the one uniform rule was that authors did not read their papers. Each day the plenary session followed a different procedure, which led to a good deal of anticipation among the members of the seminar. On one occasion, the rapporteur was given most time, on another, time was divided evenly between the authors and the audience, and a third variation was a discussion among the authors acting as a panel with some audience participation through questions. Since the CFR program sessions at the World Congress next year operate under the same rule that authors submit their papers in advance and only summarize them briefly at the Congress, this experience is valuable.

Your comments on this facet of organizing a session, i.e. on the allocation of time between authors, audience, rapporteur and chairman, will be most welcome.

A third innovation in organization at the XIII Seminar ISFR was the division of the seminar into four or five working groups, each of 12-20 persons.

Provision was made for new topics that arose on one day to be organized into working groups next day. Some four to six working groups held two or more sessions on topics such as divorce family crises, family cycle, couple development and generational or kinship cycles. One regional group of representatives of at least five European countries is in process of formation around the topic of divorce.

Fourthly, in view of both interest and financial support, each day concluded with a round table at which members of the seminar met and talked informally with representatives of organizations active in some aspect of family intervention, such as family allowances, parent education, new families in new suburbs, and so on. lively parties that began and concluded this important meeting.

Summarizing the plenary session and the working groups, Jean Cuisenier noted that everyone agreed the Family Life Cycle was a useful concept for descriptive use: for use in analysis there was no consensus and so much variation in meaning that it had limited utility. This lack of consensus in based on theoretical weaknesses, not on weaknesses in either method or data.

Numerous ways to advance from this position of weakness in theory were proposed here, as well as in the literature; one point of agreement may be that the family life cycle must be studied as one system amongst These organizational and intellectual innovations were successful. Attendance of the 70 participants from 9:30 each morning to 6:30 each evening, during all five days, was astonishingly high. There were rewards over and above the purely cognitive in the 7 course lunches each day, and in the two others, that is as a set of transactions between families and other groups. There was general consensus to consider the family as a system, which changes through its own internal dynamics as well as through transactions with other social systems. For the seventy participants, a most rewarding seminar. Selected papers are being edited for publication by the committee below. The thanks of CFR go to the organizers:

President: Jean Cuisenier, Director, Musée des Arts et Traditions Populaires, and Director of the Center of French Ethnology.

Committee: Gerrit Kooly, President, Committee on Family Research.

INTERNATIONAL SOCIOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION
VIII WORLD CONGRESS OF SOCIOLOGY

TORONTO (CANADA) AUGUST 19-24th 1974

Due to the current world fuel crisis, the ISA has met with difficulties in organising charter flights from Europe to Toronto. At time of press (March 1st) only the following flights are available from London with a round-trip fare of US $ 230:

LONDON-TORONTO-LONDON	Aug. 13 - 27
LONDON-TORONTO-LONDON	Aug. 15 - 29
LONDON-TORONTO-LONDON	Aug. 16 - 30

We hope to have a flight from another European city confirmed soon, and details will be issued shortly.

For those departing from other cities, group flights have been organised in collaboration with Air France, and full details are to be found in the enclosed brochures.

The form below is to be used by those who wish to reserve a seat on one of the charter flights from London, or, on one of the following return group flights:

BUENOS AIRES-TORONTO	CARACAS-TORONTO
RIO DE JANEIRO-TORONTO	S. JOSE-TORONTO
SANTIAGO-TORONTO	ECUADOR-TORONTO
MEXICO CITY-TORONTO	HAVANA-TORONTO

The charter and group flights are open only to ISA individual members or to members of the British Sociological Association, the Société Française de Sociologie, and to their relatives.

May we remind you that the final cost may be subject to slight variation due to fluctuations in the exchange rates.

Please fill in the form below and send it as soon as possible to Theresa Jackson, ISA Secretariat, via Daverio 7, 20122 Milano, Italy.

Remember, seats are limited, so those replying immediately will have better chance of reserving a place.

Payment.

For every seat reserved NOW you must enclose a deposit of US $ 150. Total payment will be invoiced to you after 1st May 1974. Until that date you may cancel your reservation and your deposit will be returned in full. If total payment is not made one month after receipt of invoice, your reservation will be cancelled and deposit will not be refunded.

NO PAYMENT WILL BE REFUNDED IF CANCELLATIONS ARE RECEIVED AFTER 1st JULY 1974.

If for reasons of force majeure, natural disasters, war etc., aircraft are no longer available or if seats are not sufficiently booked, the ISA reserves the right to cancel all bookings and payments will be returned in full.

VIII CONGRES MONDIAL DE SOCIOLOGIE

TORONTO (CANADA) 19-24 AOUT 1974

Pour ce qui concerne les départs de tous les autres villes, l'AIS a organisé en collaboration avec Air France, des vols de groupe dont les détails vous sont présentés dans la brochure ci-incluse.
