EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE ANNUAL MEETING

The annual Executive Committee meeting was held May 7-11, 1985, following the meetings of the different sub-committees. Besides the ISA officers, the meeting was attended also by Mrs E. Blamont, Assistant to the Secretary General of the International Social Science Council (UNESCO), and by Professor T.K. Oommen, Secretary of the Indian National Organizing Committee for the XIth World Congress of Sociology.

PROGRAM COMMITTEE

At the Program Committee meetings, chaired by Joji Watanuki, the scientific side of the forthcoming Congress was discussed. The majority of the Research Committees, Working Groups and Ad Hoc Groups are already in an advanced stage of planning their New Delhi sessions. Moreover, session organizers have been appointed for each of the 27 symposia-sessions, and in many cases the invited papers were already solicited. So far, 12 proposals for Ad Hoc Sessions and 3 for SSO sessions were accepted. All in all, there will be well over 400 sessions, while some 2500 papers are expected.

As for the organizational side of the Congress, please read consecutive pages of the Bulletin.

RESEARCH COORDINATING COMMITTEE

The Research Coordinating Committee meeting was chaired by Jacques Dofny and was attended by all members of the Research Coordinating Committee.

As an exception, the Research Coordinating Committee discussed two applications for ad hoc group status which for unforeseen reasons had not reached the ISA Secretariat in due time for the 1983 meeting. Taking these circumstances into account as well as a very extended program of activities by these two applicants, the Research Coordinating Committee granted Ad Hoc Group Status to Social Indicators Research chaired by Rudolf Andorka, and Rational Choice: the structural-individualistic approach in sociology (previously called Explanatory Sociology) chaired by Reinhard Wippler, Michael Hechter and Karl-Dieter Opp.

Upon considering duly submitted applications, 1985 newsletter grants were allocated to the following research committees (US $800 each):

- RC 08 History of Sociology
- RC 11 Sociology of Aging
- RC 12 Sociology of Law
- RC 29 Deviance and Social Control
- RC 30 Sociology of Work
- RC 38 Biography and Society

Traditionally, every research committee is entitled to apply for a newsletter grant once between two World Congresses. Since there are no newsletter grants distributed in the Congress year, the Research Coordinating Committee decided to allocate the major part of the newly established fund devoted to research committees in 1986 for travel grants and per diems. This is in order to help research committees increase the number of their members participating in the program of the New Delhi Congress, especially members from the Third World countries.

Allocation will be decided by the Research Coordinating Committee during its January 1986 meeting upon consideration of applications submitted by the research committee boards. Application forms have been distributed to the secretaries of the research committees and have to be returned to the ISA Secretariat by December 15, 1985.

Research Council meeting in New Delhi. In preparation of the 1986 Research Council meeting, the Research Coordinating Committee discussed future policy of the ISA towards research committees. A proposal was made, and accepted by the Executive Committee, to establish an annual Research Fund to be allocated to research committees beginning in 1987. (So far, grants were only allocated yearly for research committee' newsletter production). Rules, criteria and an application procedure will be discussed at the Research Council meeting in New Delhi.

PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

The Publications Committee meeting, chaired by Margaret Archer, was devoted to discussion on three publications of the ISA: Current Sociology, International Sociology (journals), Sage Studies in International Sociology (a book series), as well as a new project of the Committee for publishing in/for Third World countries, called 'Global Publishing'.

Jim Beckford, Editor of CURRENT SOCIOLOGY, reported that the production schedule was running smoothly, and the first experimental 'student edition' of CURRENT SOCIOLOGY, "The Sociology of Law" by R. Tomasic was just published by Sage Publications. (See middle pages of the Bulletin for details).

Martin Albrow, Editor of INTERNATIONAL SOCIOLOGY, reported on the preparations for the first issue of the journal which will be included in the 1986 Congress participant kit. The journal will be distributed free of charge in 1986 to all ISA members, and in consecutive years only to those members who pay their membership dues for a period of four years. See middle pages of the Bulletin for the details on submitting papers for publication.

Céline Saint-Pierre, Editor of SAGE STUDIES IN INTERNATIONAL SOCIOLOGY, reported on the progress of the manuscripts under evaluation, recently published volumes and the forthcoming two-volume issue PERSPECTIVES ON SOCIOLOGICAL THEORY, edited by S.N. Eisenstadt and H.J. Helle (see middle pages of the Bulletin for the details).

A discussion took place on methods of selecting material originating from various Congress sessions for publication within SSIS. Session organizers are invited to submit to the Editor, by December 1986, a prospectus for a possible volume of the Series.

A following step of the new project Global Publishing will be a workshop organized by the Publications Committee at the forthcoming XIth World Congress of Sociology. This workshop, devoted to various problems concerning publication in/for the Third World, will be attended by invited scholars representing the countries in question. They will be asked to collect data on publication technologies available in their countries (microfilms, microfiche, etc.), so that existing possibilities could be discussed and, hopefully, practical solutions found.

Traditionally, a book exhibition will be organized at the Congress in New Delhi, where professional publishers will be able to present recent publications in the field of social sciences.

Following a long process which lasted for several years, this year the Portuguese Sociological Association was finally constituted.

The main goals of the Portuguese Sociological Association are to promote the development of sociology, including research and diffusion of scientific information, and to facilitate interchange with other disciplines in the field of social sciences.

Presently the association is governed by a provisional Committee in which all Portuguese universities with a sociology department are represented. This Committee will be responsible for the election of the governing bodies at the end of 1985.

During its May 1985 annual meeting, the Executive Committee of the International Sociological Association, upon consideration of an application submitted by the Portuguese Sociological Association, accepted it as a Category "A" member of the ISA.

The process of construction of the Portuguese Association of Professionals on Sociology of Industry, Organizations and Work was initiated in May 1984, when organizing the 1st National Meeting of Professionals in this particular field of sociology. This meeting was held to inquire about what was done in Portugal in this specific area of sociology, and dealt with the identification of themes, institutions, necessities, actions and financial support. Furthermore, inquiries were done on areas requiring the most action and intervention, immediately and potentially, and about obstacles and difficulties in these fields. All findings were published in an October 1984 report.

In the preparation for a second National Meeting, an Organizing Committee was occupied with the establishment of national and international contacts in the field, the production of a newsletter, and the organization of four conferences held in the course of the Winter 1984. Themes of the conferences were:

1. Industrial Democracy in Europe, Japan, USA and the Portuguese Case.
2. Social Changes of the Work Structures and Economic Re-structuration.
3. New Technologies and Work Organization.
4. Situation and Perspectives of the Sociology of Industry, Organizations and Work.

The conferences were held in collaboration with experts from Trade Unions, Workers Committees, Manager Organizations, Universities and some Spanish sociologists.

In the meantime, firm contacts were established with a number of international organizations and research institutes, as well as with universities in at least a dozen countries.

The 2nd National Meeting was held in Lisbon, June 28-29, 1985. More than 100 participants were concerned with topics centered around: the professional profile of sociologists in enterprise and organizations; the demographical code; professional problems; and the preparation of future activities.

To finance the 2nd National Meeting and the publications ensuing from it, the Organizing Committee contacted foundations, trade unions and private, public and cooperative enterprises. Several banks, both central trade unions, the managers association, the institute of employment, the PTT and a few foundations and enterprises consequently helped with financial support.

The last three issues of the ISA Bulletin (nos. 35, 36, 37) were largely devoted to the scientific side of the forthcoming XIth World Congress of Sociology (New Delhi, August 18-23, 1986). In this issue we are presenting the most useful practical and organizational information on the Congress, while the Fall 1985 issue of the Bulletin will bring an up-dated program of academic sessions planned for the Congress.

Two forms are sent to you together with this Bulletin: a Registration Form and an Accommodation & Tours Form. Please fill them duly and send at your earliest convenience according to the instructions presented below.

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE - LOCAL ARRANGEMENTS

The organization of the XIth World Congress of Sociology is carried out by the International Sociological Association (ISA) in collaboration with the Indian Sociological Society through Indian National Organizing Committee (INOC) it has appointed.

The ISA Secretariat is responsible for the organization of the full academic program of the Congress in close cooperation with all concerned, the preparations of the ISA administrative meetings, and Congress registration. QLT Convention Services (Amsterdam), represented by Ms Quirine Laman Trip, will assist the Secretariat in its preparatory tasks.

INOC is concerned with the proper execution of all local arrangements, and with all tours and activities complementing the academic program. It is also responsible for the organization, both academically as well as practically, of the pre- and post-congress workshops.

The Indian National Organizing Committee (INOC) is constituted by the Indian Sociological Society (ISS), the official organization of professional sociologists in India, established in 1952. At present the ISS life membership is approximately 800. "Sociological Bulletin" published bi-annually since 1952, is the official organ of the ISS. The Indian Sociological Conference takes place once every two years under the auspices of ISS.

The ISS is managed by an elected Managing Committee comprised of a president, secretary and 15 members. The current president of the ISS is Professor Victor S. D'Souza and the secretary is Professor (Mrs) Suma Chitnis. The ISS is a Category "A" member of the International Sociological Association.

INOC consists of an Advisory Committee and a Working Committee. The Advisory Committee includes all past living presidents of the ISS, eminent social scientists from cognate disciplines, and ex officio members representing governmental and non-governmental bodies involved in the organization of the World Congress. The Working Committee of INOC consists of seven officers. INOC has six sub-committees concerned with promotion, documentation, press and media, accommodation, tours and transportation, and social events. The INOC officers are:

- Chairman: Victor S. D'Souza
- Co-Chairman: Y.B. Damle
- Vice-Chairmen: N.S.A. Rao and Y. Singh
- Secretary-General: T.K. Oommen
- Associate Secretary-General: Suma Chitnis
- Treasurer: P.N. Mukherji

INOC has appointed Travel Corporation India (TCI) as its official congress travel agent and professional congress organizer. TCI will therefore handle all hotel arrangements, post- and pre-Congress tours, and will perform congress registration administration for participants coming from countries with a Rupee exchange agreement (Bhutan, Czechoslovakia, German Democratic Republic, Nepal, Poland, Romania and USSR).

Air India has given full support to the Congress. Their offices will have complete information on the Congress, offering special rates for air travel to and from India.

AUDIO-VISUAL PRODUCTIONS IN SOCIOLOGY

Like in foregoing World Congresses of Sociology in Toronto (1974), Uppsala (1978), Mexico City (1982) there will be a daily program of Audio-Visual Productions in Sociology at the World Congress in New Delhi. The program will consist of four major parts:

1. Transnational Comparisons through Film and Video.
A daily program, featuring audio-visual materials on specific social conditions in different parts of the world.
Filmmakers, videomakers and tape-slide producers and sociologists are requested to make proposals regarding programs in which their films, videotapes, or tape-slide shows are matched with audio-visual productions by other media-workers/sociologists, to result in meaningful comparisons of social conditions around the globe.
2. Experiences with Foto, Film and Video in Sociology.
A series of presentations by sociologists who use audio-visual media in the exercise of their profession. These sessions will give room for discussion on theoretical and practical issues in Visual Sociology.
3. Semiotics and Visual Sociology.
A one day seminar on the relevance of semiotics (the study of sign-systems as a language), for the development of Visual Sociology.
4. Special Programs.
These include sessions on topical issues at the time of the conference:
- Indian documentary films and "docu-drama's"
- films and videotapes on Aid-programs in Asia
- 'open screenings': an opportunity for everybody to show his/her audio-visual materials

IN MEMORIAM: ROBERT COOLEY ANGELL 1899 - 1984

The passing of Robert Cooley Angell marks a significant loss to international sociology. He was directing the Social Science Department of UNESCO in 1949-50 when the ISA was being founded. He was also in charge of the UNESCO project on "Tensions Affecting International Understanding" in which the young ISA took a significant part. This project became one of the first concerns of the ISA Research Committee which in due course proliferated into the large number of specialized research committees that are active at the present time.

Robert Angell was a member of the ISA Executive Committee in the years 1953-59 and was its second president (1953-56) at a time when the Association was growing rapidly, spreading into most regions of the world. He retained his active interest in intersocietal conflict and conflict resolution throughout his life.

His life and that of Michigan Sociology were inextricably intertwined. A brief chronology will make this clear.

Robert Angell received his BA in 1921, MA in 1922 and PH.D. in 1924. He was appointed lecturer in 1922 and assistant professor of sociology in 1924, when the discipline was included under the Department of Economics and taught by his uncle, the renowned Charles Horton Cooley. The discipline gained separate departmental status in 1930, under the chair of Roderick McKenzie. Angell became associate professor in 1930 and full professor in 1935.

As a young assistant professor he gave Rensis Likert his first experience with systematic social research. Likert later returned to head the Institute for Social Research. As Chair of the Department from 1940 to 1952, Angell brought Theodore Newcomb and Ronald Freedman, as well as the groups that formed the Centers for Survey Research and Group Dynamics Research.

Outside of the department, Angell championed excellence in undergraduate instruction and helped to form the honors college, which he chaired from 1957 to 1961. He worked with Kenneth Boulding to found both the "Journal" and the Center for Research on Conflict Resolution. In the profession he edited the "American Sociological Review" from 1946 to 1948 and was elected President of the American Sociological Association in 1951. He served abroad as director of UNESCO's Social Science Department in Paris from 1949-1950.

Robert Angell retired in 1969, but continued to teach, including active involvement in the department's introductory course. He headed the American Sociological Association's project to create sociological materials for secondary schools. Angell remained intellectually active and at his death was working with J. David Singer on a book on world conflict and world peace.

Throughout his life Angell exhibited a strong commitment to what are some of the most persistent of Michigan values. He was committed to excellence in undergraduate teaching and to the advancement of rigorous social scientific research. To him, these values were inextricably linked; they were never in conflict. He was also committed to service to the larger community, working to use his social scientific tools for human betterment.

Angell was a fine teacher and a superb colleague. He had the capacity of a great teacher: the ability to see where his students were and then to help them take the next step. With his gracious wife, Esther, he did the same for younger colleagues: their home and their hearts were opened as they helped young colleagues to find their way in the community.

A few years ago Angell wrote an engaging autobiographical essay titled "The Joys of Modest Success" (Transactions 1980). His achievements were far more than modest, and his evident joys enviable.

publications of the international sociological association

Each issue of this unique journal is devoted to a comprehensive 'Trend Report' on a topic of interest to the international community of sociologists. Authors review current trends and tendencies in all areas of sociological work - theories, methods, concepts, substantive research and national or regional developments. The aim is to review new developments, to discuss controversies, and to provide extensive bibliographies. From time to time, 'Commentaries on Trend Reports' are published in subsequent issues of the journal. Recent reports have focused on industrial and post-industrial sociology, the sociology of humour, agrarian relations and modes of production in the Middle East, sex roles, and inequalities of class and sex.

Issues are published in French or English, but a text in one language is always accompanied by an extensive resume in the other. CURRENT SOCIOLOGY is an official journal of the International Sociological Association. Its main aim is to review international developments in the discipline and to provide a forum from which professional sociologists from all countries can communicate with the widest group of colleagues.

LA SOCIOLOGIE CONTEMPORAINE est une revue unique en son genre. Chaque numéro est consacré exclusivement à la présentation d'un rapport-synthèse sur la recherche dans un champ ou sur un thème sociologique en particulier. Ces rapports-synthèse sont conçus de manière à ce que chaque numéro de la Revue puisse être intéressant pour des sociologues travaillant à l'intérieur d'un large éventail de champs spécialisés puisqu'ils mettent l'accent sur les concepts, les théories, les problèmes et les méthodes. Ces rapports-synthèse fournissent une vue d'ensemble en discutant des recherches les plus importantes réalisées sur le thème choisi à travers le monde, et en présentant une bibliographie sélective des travaux des principaux auteurs sur la scène internationale. Tout en synthétisant les contenus et en contribuant à la clarification conceptuelle, ces rapports se veulent un forum où des démarches méthodologiques et théoriques peuvent être évaluées et des nouvelles orientations signalées. En tant que publication officielle de l'A.I.S., le but principal de la revue LA SOCIOLOGIE CONTEMPORAINE est de rendre compte des développements internationaux de la discipline et d'encourager les sociologues de métier de tous les pays à entrer en contact et à communiquer avec le plus grand nombre possible de collègues.

PERSPECTIVES ON SOCIOLOGICAL THEORY
edited by S.N. Eisenstadt, Hebrew University of Jerusalem, and H.J. Helle, Munich University

This important and much needed two-volume work takes stock of the new approaches in sociology which have developed since the 1950s. It demonstrates the convergence of macro- and micro-sociology, and the recognition of problems common to all areas of sociological endeavour.

Macro-Sociological Theory and its companion volume, Micro-Sociological Theory, address three major shifts within sociological theory. First, institutional orders and their dynamics are increasingly seen as constructed by the activities of different actors, both individuals and groups. This is reflected in a shift to the analysis of the processes and mechanisms through which the social order, both at macro- and micro-level, is constructed. Second, and closely connected to the analysis of the construction of social institutions, is a greater emphasis on the autonomy of the major social actors. Third, is the new focus on the dimension of power and the symbolic construction of reality in the creation of the institutional order. The two volumes treat these major theoretical issues in a variety of ways and from different points of view, confronting in the process problems that are common to all forms of sociological analysis.

PARTICIPATION, WORKERS' CONTROL, SELF-MANAGEMENT

On July 5-9, 1985, the Research Committee held in Osnabruck (FRG), an international workshop on "Competence, Trade Unions and Self-management". The conference, organized by György Széll (University of Osnabruck), was a follow-up of the Dubrovnik workshop (1983) where one of the main topics was the role of internal and external experts in the realization of self-management initiatives. The theoretical discussions as well as the empirical presentations at the Osnabruck workshop focused on the following problems: technology and competence; role of internal experts (specialists, management, shop stewards, workers' council, etc.); role of external experts (trade unions, scientists, local communities, the State, foreigners, etc.); education and competence.

60 scholars, representing the following countries, participated in the workshop: Argentina, Austria, Australia, Belgium, Cameroon, Canada, Finland, France, FRG, Great Britain, Hungary, India, Israel, Italy, Japan, The Netherlands, Norway, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, USA, Yugoslavia.

SOCIOLINGUISTICS

A symposium on the theme "1984: Orwell and the language question" was organized in Paris (November 7-9, 1984) by Pierre Achard with the help of Maison des Sciences de l'Homme and the journal "Langage et Société".

Taking the opportunity of the coincidence of the title of Orwell's novel and the current year, the organizers called for papers and discussions about the sociology of political intervention in the domain of language use. The aim was not to assess whether Orwell's fiction was a good prevision or not, but how sociolinguists could use the novel as a starting point to question the modern or contemporary state of language policies and language planning. Some historical view on other situations (ancient Greece, Dante's Italy) were very important topics for relativizing the point of view.

This international symposium was attended by about 100 participants from 14 countries (Australia, Belgium, Benin, Brazil, Cameroon, Colombia, France, Germany, Hungary, India, Ireland, Italy, USA, Zaire). Half of the participants presented a paper, and 10 sessions were organized on the following themes: linguistic theory as social ideology; effects of a new semiotics: group language, state language, language of power; discourse analysis, location in the field, language as closed discourse from the other side; discursive strategies, fitting and forcing of the consensus; is Big Brother among B.L. Whorf's worshippers?; sociolinguistics: power assessment and distribution; linguistic metatheory and problems of limitation.

Part of the papers will be published, either in the newsletter of the Committee, "Sociolinguistics", or in a book.

The first volume (see below) of a series of books MATERIALS ON SOCIOTECHNICS has been published by Verlag fur Gesellschaftsarchitektur, founded by Joachim K.H.W. Schmidt, the Secretary of the Research Committee. The purpose of this publishing house is to publish literature relevant for the new discipline of sociotechnics.

The publishing house is also interested in publishing series of materials of other research committees. Conditions: payment of printing costs ca. Alexander J. Matejko: BEYOND BUREAUCRACY? A SOCIOTECHNICAL APPROACH TO THE DIALECTICS OF COMPLEX ORGANIZATIONS (468 pp, $19,95, Materials on Sociotechnics vol. I, ed. by Al Cherns, A. Matejko, A. Podgorecki, J.K.H.W. Schmidt, Verlag fur Gesellschaftsarchitektur, P.O.B. 130152, 5000 Koln 1, FRG). The book presents alternatives to up to now still existing hierarchically shaped bureaucratic structures in public and private administration, including such administrative bodies as unions, whereby Matejko always focuses on strategies of participation. In the process of the development of alternatives, he reviews a huge amount of literature from North America, Japan, India, socialist countries, and Africa. The book contains an extensive bibliography; it is a good example of the basic concern of sociotechnics to reconstruct hierarchically shaped private and public institutions on the basis of principles allowing participation.

SOCIOLOGY OF ART

On June 15-16, 1985, the Committee held its meeting in conjunction with the annual conference of the French Sociological Association (Marseilles, France). Pursuing the theme of the final session of the FSA, "Is a Sociology of the Work of Art Itself Possible?", several papers were presented at the session chaired by Antoine Hennion. In addition to the papers, a business meeting was held to plan the final form of the New Delhi meetings.

GROUP ON
HOUSING AND THE BUILT ENVIRONMENT

On June 3-7, 1985, an international conference on "Housing Research and Policy Issues in an Era of Fiscal Austerity" was held in the Institute of Sociology, University of Amsterdam (The Netherlands). It was co-organized by the Dutch Sociological Association, the Foundation for Research on the Built Environment (Stichting Gestructureerd Samenwerking), and the group Housing and the Built Environment, well known to the ISA since the Uppsala (1978) World Congress of Sociology.

Leon Deben and Dick van der Vaart, main organizers of the conference, took excellent care of 130 scholars (2/3 coming from abroad) who participated in the following session as well as excursions to the most interesting areas of urban development:

Recent developments in West-European housing; Housing for special user groups; Social issues in housing; Policies and trends in homeownership; Housing and the state; Trends in housing tenure: public, rental and shared; Housing subsidies, expenditures and administration; Housing in less developed countries; Housing and renewal in the inner city. Women and housing; Gentrification and rehabilitation.

A publication of selected papers is planned.

The group Housing and the Built Environment, chaired by Elizabeth Huttman (California State University, Hayward, USA) and Willem van Vliet (University of Pennsylvania, USA), held also a business meeting where, among others, its plans for the XIth World Congress of Sociology sessions were discussed.
