XII WORLD CONGRESS OF SOCIOLOGY

9-13 July, 1990, Madrid, Spain

The XII World Congress of Sociology celebrated at the Universidad Complutense in Madrid (Spain) on July 9th through 13th, 1990, attracted a record number of participants: 4730 from 83 countries who attended more than 500 sessions of symposia, research committees, working groups, thematic groups and ad hoc sessions.

Over 50.000 dollars (10.000 $ by UNESCO Participation Program and over 40.000 $ by the ISA) were made available earmarked for assistance to participants from less developed countries.

The Spanish King Juan Carlos and Queen Sofia as well as the Minister of Education Javier Solana were present at the Congress Opening Ceremony. The King inaugurated the Congress.

The academic program of the Congress started with the first plenary session in which ISA President Margaret Archer and Juan Linz presented papers on the general theme of the Congress «Sociology for One World: Unity and Diversity». The Congress concluded with the second plenary chaired by Artur Meier, Vice-President in charge of the Congress Program, in which a panel of five speakers presented their views on the theme of the Congress. The panelists were: Martin Albrow (UK), Elizabeth Jelin (Argentina), T.K. Oommen (India), Erwin Scheuch (FRG), Piotr Sztompka (Poland).

During, before and after the World Congress week, several meetings of the ISA administrative bodies —Executive Committee and its sub-committees, Research Council and the ISA Council— were held. The main decision taken by these bodies are presented below.

Executive Committee 1986-1990

On the following pages we publish a broad account of the ISA activities in the last four years. Below come the most recent decisions of the Executive Committee and its sub-committees taken during its meeting held in July 1990 and chaired by the out-going President Margaret Archer.

Publications Committee:

● ISA journal «International Sociology» will change in January 1991 its home base and will move from Cardiff (UK) to the ISA Documentation, Publication and Analyses Centre in Bielefeld (FRG). Richard Grathoff from the Institute of Sociology, University of Bielefeld, will substitute Martin Albrow as editor of the «International Sociology».

● There is also a change of editorship for «Sage Studies in International Sociology» Series: Wilfried Dumon (Catholic University of Leuven, Belgium) hands over his responsibilities to Robert Brym from the University of Toronto, Canada.

Research Coordinating Committee approved following changes of status:

● Research Committee status has been given to:

- RC 16 Sociological Theory
- RC 43 Housing and the Built Environment
- RC 44 Labor Movements
- RC 45 Rational Choice

● Working Group status has been maintained for:

- WG 01 Clinical Sociology
- WG 02 Sociocybernetics and Social Systems Theory
- WG 04 Sociology of Mental Health

WG 06 Social Indicators
Research Committee on National Movements and Imperialism was demoted to a Working Group status (WG 07).

Following Thematic Groups were given the Working Group status:

WG 03 Social Classes and Social Movements

WG 05 Sociology of International Tourism

● Thematic Group status was maintained for:

TG 01 Time Use Research

TG 03 Sociology of Childhood

TG 05 Famine and Society

Two new groups were given a Thematic Group status:

TG 02 Environmental Issues

TG 04 Collective Behavior and Social Movements

TG 06 Sociology of Emotions

Research Council

For the first time, the ISA Research Council was given the right and duty to elect directly one of the ISA vice-presidents, more precisely the vice-president who acts as Chair of the ISA Research Council, and to elect seven of the sixteenth representatives to the ISA Executive Committee 1991-1994.

The newly elected Vice-President, Research Council Chair, became Daniel Bertaux (France), and the seven members of the Executive Committee are: Neuma Aguiar (Brazil), Rudolf Andorka (Hungary), Jürgen Hartmann (Sweden), Alberto Martinelli (Italy), Karl van Meter (France), Gyorgy Széll (FRG), Henry Teune (USA). (See following pages for the presentation of the members.)

ISA Council

Delegates to the ISA Council elected following officers of the ISA Executive Committee 1991-1994 (see following pages for the presentation of the members):

President: T.K. Oommen (India).

Vice-Presidents: Neil Smelser (USA), Vladimir Yadov (USSR).

Members: Paolo Ammassari (Italy), Maria Carrilho (Portugal), Manuel Castells (Spain), Ivan Kuvacic (Yugoslavia), Stella R. Quah (Singapore), Veronica Stolte-Heiskanen (Finland).

Spanish was accepted in principle as a third official language of ISA, along with English and French. However, the decision will be formal only when the relevant by-laws of ISA are changed by the Council through the statutory procedure.

The ISA Council held a preliminary discussion on the site of the XIII World Congress of Sociology. While a few proposals for the next Congress site were available to be considered, it was felt that all national associations aspiring to invite the Congress should be given an opportunity to come forward with their proposals. To facilitate this process and to arrive at an objective decision a sub-committee was appointed with Neil Smelser, Vice-President in charge of the Congress Program, as its chair. The committee would receive proposals from national associations until December 31, 1990 and is expected to present its recommendations to the Executive Committee in March 1991.

REPORT FROM THE OUTGOING EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

by Margaret Archer, President 1986-1990

There has been a leit-motif underlying the last four years of activity, which will be found repeated in the work of every sub-committee. This has been a vision of international outreach which we have tried to realize through the foundation of permanent «home bases» for each of our main activities. Thus we have tried to initiate a sequence, in which the new structures we have formed will serve as platforms from which our successors can make further outreaches. The process also works in the opposite direction with new initiatives, we seek to locate and integrate a wider band of colleagues, proving successful and becoming institutionalized for the future.

Perhaps the initiative which best sums up our vision was the launch of the first Worldwide Competition for Young Sociologist. Thanks to the work of Daniel Bertaux and members of 14 different language Juries, entries were received from 64 countries written by young colleagues with over 100 mother tongues between them. We are delighted at the quality of the work produced by the finalists, all of whom were invited to a week's summer school at Escorial with the 5 winners (from USA, China, Africa, Korea and Japan) being congratulated on the platform at the Opening Session of the World Congress. Having proved that this can be done on a shoe-string budget with a lot of goodwill, the Competition has now become a regular four-year fixture.

The same leitmotif was worked out in the Research Council under Else Øyen's imaginative leadership. In particular the Research Committees now have «home bases», already in full operation, from which they can work, hold conferences, develop research projects and involve graduate students. The major achievement here was the foundation of the Ljubljana International Sociological Institute which comprises a Summer School and Research Forum and gives the RCs an infrastructure which they can use between Congresses. Equally welcome was the foundation of the Oñati International Institute for the Sociology of Law — a model for other RCs and a resource for them. This was made possible by the generous gift of the Old University by the Basque government. Already a full programme of workshops is underway, and, for the first time under ISA auspices, an international Masters and Doctoral programme have been launched.

At the level of individual Research Committees, consolidation has meant the development of a general model for their Statutes and more of their members also joining the ISA. Outreach is reflected in the decision to give two full ISA memberships to each RC, specifically earmarked for Officers coming from Less Developed Countries, in order to increase their possibility of participation.

Finally there has been great commitment to strengthening the Research Council itself, a point which was stressed at the very successful mid-term Symposium on «Cross-Cultural and International Research» hosted by the Edvard Kardelj University in Slovenia, 1988. This culminated in the motion, passed by Council at the World Congress, giving greater representation to the Research Council on the supreme governing body and enabling it to elect its own Chairperson in future.

Publications, chaired first by Artur Meier and by Céline Saint-Pierre has done much more than ensure the continuity of our well established Journal, Current Sociology and book series, Sage Studies in International Sociology. The leitmotif is best illustrated by International Sociology, our real «outreach» Journal, founded 6 years ago under Martin Albrow's dedicated editorship. The genuine multi-directional information flow is working thanks to a global network of Associate editors, advisors and evaluators and the articles appearing witness to the reversal of the typical one-way center-to-periphery pattern.

As part and parcel of consolidating its future, a new «home base» for publications has been founded in Bielefeld as the Documentation, Publications and Analyses Centre. This will not only house the Journal, but its first Director, Richard Grathoff, will oversee a whole range of publication initiatives which the ISA has wanted to launch for a long time — joint publication with Eastern Europe, a data bank and addressbook of sociologists worldwide being a small sample. This should constitute a great resource for the Secretariat, Council and individual members.

The unenviable task of Finance and Membership fell to Wilfried Dumon; difficult because total funds showed a downward trajectory over the last decade, due to two highly successful outreach Congresses held in Mexico and New Delhi, and austere because budgets had to be stringent. So it was a great success that we not only lived with the annual budgets for 1987, 1988, and 1989 but also succeeded in developing the initiatives mentioned on a shoe-string. After this Congress we are going to be leaving our successors on an upward financial trajectory for the first time since the late 70ties. We hope that these four years of «good housekeeping» will leave them much less constrained in the services they can offer to our worldwide membership.

Membership itself has risen but we are still a long way off being a membership association. What we have tried to do is to lay the groundwork for this. Members will only come if there is continuous involvement with a benefit from the ISA, year in a year out, not just at Congress time. Again this is the part of the rationale behind the «home bases». As more participate in their programmes and activities, the advantages of belonging to an international research and communication network should act as magnets for membership.

For the first time the ISA has experimented, during this term, with a professional Secretariat. Thanks to the generous support of the Spanish Ministry of Education and Science it has been established in Madrid for the last four years. We ended up with a small, streamlined and highly effective agency for which Iza-bela Barlinska must be given the credit. This has handled the routine workload and successfully carried out Congress pre-registration and documentation at a considerable saving compare with previous occasions.

In a retrospective report, it is only proper to ask too «where have we failed»? Obviously we would have liked to do much more and as ever we have fallen short in drawing in colleagues from the Less Developed Countries to the extent desired. However my other main personal regret concerns Council, our supreme governing body. Attempts were made to schedule a mid-term meeting of Council members but floundered because we could not raise the travel funding to make this a representative meeting. Yet such a meeting outside the time-constraints and frenzied atmosphere of World Congresses seems essential. Council needs to become more than a «papillon body», it must be able to reflect calmly upon the Statutes and Electoral procedures, it requires the opportunity to formulate priorities for where the ISA should be going, it must have a platform for articulating policies and monitoring activities. I know that the new Executive Committee is committed to this and hope that National Associations will welcome the occasion.

So this summarizes what we have tried to achieve over the last four years. My thanks to the most hardworking, creative and cohesive Executive Committee whose timework has made it possible. We would have liked to do much more, but I do believe that due to their commitment we are leaving our successors with a sounder basis for global outreach than ever before in the ISA.

CURRENT SOCIOLOGY

Association internationale de Sociologie/ La sociologie contemporaine

Each issue of this unique journal is devoted to a comprehensive trend report on a topic of interest to the international community of sociologists. Authors review current trends and tendencies in all areas of sociological work - theories, methods, concepts, substantive research and national or regional developments. The aim is to review new developments, to discuss controversies, and to provide extensive bibliographies. From time to time, «Commentaries on Trend Reports» are published in subsequent issues of the journal.

Since its inception in 1952, CURRENT SOCIOLOGY has published Trend Reports by some of the world's leading sociologists, such as S.M.

Miller's classic on Comparative Social Mobility (1960). More recently, the journal has covered topics of growing importance with the discipline such as the sociology of law, the sociology of the body, economic sociology and the sociology of legitimation.

Issues are published in French or English, but a text in one language is always accompanied by an extensive résumé in the other. CURRENT SOCIOLOGY is an official journal of the International Sociological Association. Its main aim is to review international developments in the discipline and to provide a forum from which professional sociologists from all countries can communicate with the widest group of colleagues.

sociological abstracts

Editor: Leo P. Chall.

Co-sponsored by the ISA, Sociological Abstracts is published by Sociological Abstracts Inc., a non-profit corporation. It also publishes «Linguistics and Languages Behavior Abstracts and Social Planning/Policy and Development Abstracts». SA appears 5 times a year: April, June, August, October, December.

Sociological Abstracts offers a collection of nonevaluative abstracts which reflects the world serial literature in sociology and related disciplines. Each of the five issues of SA contains the following: a brief user's guide; a Table of Contents consisting of 33 major and 79 subcategories into which sociological subjects are categorized; a subject index; an author index; a source index; a supplement «International Review of Publications in Sociology» - consisting of a bibliography of books reviews taken from the journals abstracted in the same issue; some issues also contain Supplement(s) consisting of abstracts of congress papers.

Selection and coverage: three types of journals have been distinguished in the following order or priority:

Type 1 - journals published by sociological associations, groups, faculties and institutes; and periodicals containing the word «sociology» in their title. These are abstracted fully, irrespective of language of publication.

Type 2 - journals from such related areas as anthropology, economics, education, medicine, community development, philosophy, statistics, political science, etc. Such journals are abstracted selectively.

Type 3 - journals from the humanities and journals of general circulation wherein scholars and laymen publish discussions or criticism of sociology and sociological topics. These journals are abstracted selectively.

SA desires to receive an abstract together with a reprint of the document itself (article, monograph, essay, book). Publishers and editors are urged to send copies of new publications for abstracting, or to initiate the preparation of abstracts on forms supplied gratis on request.

Other services and publications available:

- Information entered into the database since 1963 is available online to information professionals from BRS (file label SOCA), Data-Star (file label SOCA), and Dialog (file 37)

- Sociosearch - a service offering researches and librarians an opportunity to consult with information specialists who answer research questions with fast comprehensive searches of SA related databases;

- Social Planning/Policy, and Development Abstracts (SOPODA) - published since 1979 as a response to the expressed needs of scholars and educators, for a compression of the applied sociology and social science literature into an easily accessible format;

- Note Us - a free newsletter to facilitate communication between the producers of SA and its several thousands of users;

- A slide/tape show Sociological Abstracts - in Print and Online offering information and instruction on use of this comprehensive sociological database. The presentation is available for purchase ($70) or it can be borrowed for a two-week period, at no charge.

- A manual - a free brochure - Your Guide to Searching Sociological Abstracts using a Personal Computer.

- The now completed first edition of the SA Thesaurus of Sociological Terms is being used to index all SA and SOPODA records; Dialog information Services will mount the online thesaurus;

Subscription to SA is $ 325 per year. Single issues are $ 50. Orders and enquiries can be placed with:

ISA SUMMER SCHOOL. RESEARCH FORUM ON COMPARATIVE RESEARCH

Ljubljana (Yugoslavia), July 1-3, 1991, organized by the ISA International Sociological Institute in Ljubljana

Post-graduate students are invited to apply to a two week Summer School to be held at the University of Ljubljana, Faculty of Sociology, Political Science and Journalism under the auspices of the International Sociological Association.

The Summer School will be organized in conjunction with a Research Forum of scholars engaged in on-going cross-national research on a collaborative research program on «The New Democracy». Seminar instruction will focus on «hands-on» analysis of data gathered on samples of local political leaders from Poland, Sweden, the United States, and Yugoslavia. In all of these countries similar data were gathered in the 1960's or 1980's or both. Data will also be available on newly elected local leaders in Eastern Europe (1991).

The theoretical focus is the «how» and «why» of democratic practice at the local level, in some countries following a «top-down» revolution, in others in response to more gradual social and political change, but in all cases today in an emerging global political economy. The assumption by local institutions, such as schools, clubs, and churches, of democratic functions will be examined in the context of a new «localism» which for some time now has been taking form in the older democracies and challenges potential democratic developments of new ones, especially as they are tied to global institutions and influences.

Research Forum include:

Henry Teune, Coordinator (University of Pennsylvania), Ulf Christofferson (Swedish Parliament), Samuel Eldersvel (University of Michigan), Aleksandra Jasinska-Kania (University of Warsaw), J.A. Laponce (University of British Columbia), Jan Macarovic (University of Ljubljana), Karl van Meter (CNRS, Paris), Zdravko Mlinar (University of Ljubljana), Krzysztof Ostrowski (Kelles-Krauz Foundation, Warsaw), Else Øyen (University of Gotteberg), Thomas Watts (University of California, Bakersfield), Jurgen Westerstahl (University of Gotteberg), Jerzy Wiatr (University of Warsaw), Tatjana Zaslavskaja (Center for Puffic Opinion Research, Moscow).

In addition scholars from other countries of Western and Eastern Europe will be invited. Topics for the seminars include:

- the design of comparative research
- problems of equivalence
- the role of theory in making comparisons
- data gathering and coding
- cross-national comparisons of texts
- analysis of cross-time and cross-national data.

The emphasis will be on data analysis on local leaders and their democratic values and governance. All data will be formatted in SPSS. It is the intention of the organizers that publishable papers will be written, hopefully co-authored by the participants.

For applications please write to:

Professor Zdravko Mlinar,
Faculty of Sociology, Political Science and Journalism,
Kardeljeva 5,
61000 Ljubljana, Yugoslavia.

The participants will be selected by the Board of the Summer School Research Forum of the International Sociological Association.
