Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the RC04, we would like to welcome the new board members including the new president, Marios Vryonides. Retiring board members were awarded with a plaque as recognition of their years of service to the RC. The RC04 president (2010-2018) Anthony Gary Dworkin will continue to serve in the RC04 board as Past-president. Professor Dworkin served the board with distinction. We wish to thank, once again, the retiring board members for their service.

The current Newsletter of December 2018 provides useful feedback on recent conferences, publications and academic activities by RC04 members. In his message, the RC04 president, Marios Vryonides, has indicated that the 2018 Toronto World Congress of Sociology, held from 15-21 July, 2018, was a great success for ISA and for the RC04. In this regard, we hope to maintain the momentum noting that RC04 is one of the largest RCs of the ISA.

On pages 5 to 7, you will note that the RC04 Institute of Foreign Languages of RUDN (Russia), Institute of Sociology FRSC RAS (Russia), Russian Society of Sociologists (RSS), Faculty of Philology of Lomonosov Moscow State University (Russia), Moscow State Linguistic University (Russia) intends to hold a mid-term conference at RUDN University from 24 to 26 July 2019 in Moscow. Svetlana Sharonova is the Deputy Chairman of the Organizing and Program Committee and Natalia Erokhova is the Secretary, Organizing and Program Committee. We encourage and hope to have a meaningful and full participation. Additional information can be found on the advertisement.

On page 8, the Newsletter’s section on Global Exchange provides lots of useful information on research, publications, recently published journal articles and dissertations. We intend to ensure that it continues to serve the purpose for which it was intended, that is, to promote information exchanges, facilitate collaboration among colleagues, especially across national boundaries. In this regard, members are asked to submit 100-150 word synopses of their ongoing or planned research as a way of exchanging ideas and fostering collaboration. Members are encouraged to make full use of this channel of communication and further enhance the activities of the RC04.

On page 10, you will find information on forthcoming events, that is, the Fourth ISA Forum of Sociology, Porto Alegre, Brazil, July 14-18, 2020; the XX ISA World Congress of Sociology, Melbourne, Australia, July 24-31, 2022 and other intended conferences. Please diarise. Further information will be disseminated if and when available.

The RC04 statuses and board members can be found on page 11.

From the President

Dear Colleagues,

The XIX ISA World Congress of Sociology in Toronto was a great success with more than 5,000 participants from 101 countries. Over 1,200 sessions were organized on a variety of topics by 56 Research Committees and 8 Thematic Groups. Our RC04 organized 24 sessions and participants delivered 182 papers.

The new RC04 board was elected during the business meeting and retiring board members were awarded with a plaque in recognition of their years of service to the RC. Retiring board members included the Vice-President for Asia Jason Chang and Vice-President for Latin America, Maria Ligia Barbosa. The RC04 president (2010-2018) Anthony Gary Dworkin will continue to serve in the RC04 board as Past-president. His experience and advice will always be extremely useful to all other Board members and to me personally. New members were elected to replace the vacant positions: Analia Meo, vice-president for Latin America, Duncan Hindle vice-president for Africa and Tien-Hui Chang, vice-president for Asia. Marios Vryonides, secretary (2010-18) was elected President and Shaheeda Essack vice-president for Africa was elected Secretary/Treasurer and Newsletter Editor. The other board members were re-elected. The new RC04 Board is as follows:

- Marios Vryonides of Cyprus, President
- Shaheeda Essack of South Africa, Secretary/Treasurer and Newsletter Editor
- Carol Reid of Australia, VP for Oceania
- Kari Kantasalmi of Finland, VP for Europe
- Svetlana Sharonova of Russia, VP for Russia
- Walter Allen of the USA, VP for North America
- Analia Meo of Argentina, VP for Latin America
- Tien-Hui Chaing of Taiwan, VP for Asia
- Duncan Hindle, VP for Africa
- Gary Dworkin of USA, Past President
The plaque presented to Prof. Gary Dworkin RC04 president (2010-2018)

Shaheeda as the new editor of the RC04 Newsletter will continue to circulate it twice every year. The board and I encourage all members to send your comments and contributions. Please send your thoughts to her (Essack.S@dhet.gov.za) or to me (M.Vryonides@euc.ac.cy).

ISA has recently placed on their website an announcement about the 2020 Forum of Sociology to be held in Porto Allegre, Brazil. RC04 program coordinators are to be announced to ISA by January 15 and a call for sessions in which members submit abstracts for sessions that they would like to organize will open from 4 February until 15 of March. Beginning on 25 of April and ending on 30 September, members are to submit abstracts for papers they wish to present.

Many more events will be organized in the meantime and the Newsletter will be a venue to disseminate information and encourage members to attend when possible so as to advance Sociology of Education in the best possible way.

Best regards,

Marios Vryonides

President, RC04 (2018-2022)

  A Summary of the Dissertation Gendered Choices: Fields of Study of Adolescents in the Netherlands

  “We know that boys and girls still make different gender-stereotypical field of study choices. Using longitudinal data collected from almost 7000 adolescents over 5 years (age 14 – 19), my research provides insight in the different ways in which adolescents’ social environment lead girls and boys to different fields of study. It focusses on the role of internalized gender norms as well as the influence of parents, siblings, and friends. I find that internalized ideas of what is “appropriate” male or female gender-role behaviour (gender norms) contributes to gender inequality in educational fields because it leads boys to more masculine fields of study. A second important conclusion is that mothers generate gender differences in field of study choices. This highlights the need to include mothers – next to fathers – in studying adolescents’ field of study choices. Friends also contribute to gender differences in field of study choices, because their traditional gender norms push girls out of masculine fields of study, whereas having more same-sex friends detains boys in these masculine fields. Lastly, fathers and siblings are important for making field of study choices, but these actors do not contribute to gender differences in fields of study.” Summary by Author

  In:cite journal is an online community created by, for and with young people. It focuses on youth voices, however that may be defined, and seeks to amplify these voices through publishing their works in an accessible space. This could be a great launch point for those interested in the creative arts, be that writing, visual art, video or any other medium.

  Most recently, it has put out a call for submissions, a time of year when it asks youth to submit their own original works to the journal with the hope of being published. This year’s theme is Home and the many thoughts and feelings that it brings up. For some inspiration, check out our mind map and our formal call for submissions posters. It also created a short video explaining a bit more about in:cite and what we look for in submissions (https://bit.ly/2D6GPAN).

  To learn more about in:cite and get a better feel for the journal, feel free to take a look at the journal at https://incitejournal.org/index.php/incite and check out one of our blog posts at https://incitejournal.tumblr.com/post/167736494664/these-teens-studied-race-what-happened-will-not.
