

Newsletter of the International Sociological Association Research Committee 15 (Sociology of Health) – January 2022

English version

Greetings from the President of International Sociological Association, RC15 Sociology of Health

Miwako Hosoda, Seisa University, Japan

Happy New Year!

The year 2022 has begun – so how are you doing? This year is the Year of the Tiger in Japan. The year of the tiger is associated with the image of standing up to adversity and moving forward.

Last year, COVID-19 was a major topic of discussion in the world, and it was thought that the disease would come to an end when the vaccine would be available, but with the appearance of variant strains, the situation is still unpredictable. We hope for the early recovery of daily life, but there are also problems such as inequality in the distribution of vaccines among countries and discrimination against those who cannot or do not receive vaccines. We recognize once again that COVID-19 is not only a medical problem, but also a social problem.

Since COVID-19 has been difficult to control, the XX ISA World Congress of Sociology, which was originally scheduled to be held in 2022, will now be held from June 25 to July 1 in 2023 in Melbourne, Australia. It is currently being planned to be a hybrid of face-to-face and online. The theme of the conference is " Resurgent Authoritarianism: The Sociology of New Entanglements of Religions, Politics, and Economies". I look forward to discussing with all of you new ways of relating to sociology and society in today's chaotic world, and questioning anew the discipline's meaning.

The year of the tiger also represents surviving the harsh winter and growing well through the year. I know that the COVID-19 situation is not over yet, and that you are still suffering from various restrictions and constraints, but I sincerely hope that we can work together to overcome this situation and move toward a new and hopeful society.

Best wishes,

Miwako Hosoda

世界社会学会 RC15 健康社会学 会長からのご挨拶 細田満和子(日本、星槎大学)

新年おめでとうございます。

2022 年が始まりましたが、いかがお過ごしでしょうか。今年は、日本では寅年にあたります。寅年には、逆境にも立ち向かって進んでゆくというイメージがあります。

昨年も、世界での大きな話題は COVID-19 でした。ワクチンができて終息に向かうかと思われましたが、変異株などが登場したりして、未だ予断を許さない状況です。一日も早い日常生活の回復が望まれますが、ワクチン配分を巡る各国間の不平等、ワクチンを打たない打てない人への差別などの問題状況も生じています。あらためて、COVID-19 は、医学的な問題だけでなく、社会的問題を引き起こしていることが認識されます。

COVID-19 がなかなか終息していかない中、本来は 2022 年に開催予定であった第 20 回 ISA World Congress of Sociology は、2023 年 6 月 25 日から 7 月 1 日にかけて開催されることになりました。開催地は、オーストラリアのメルボルンで、今のところ対面とオンラインとのハイブリッド形式の予定です。大会のテーマは、「復活する権威主義：宗教・政治・経済と社会学との新たな関係」です。混迷する現代社会において、社会学と社会との新しい関わり方を追求し、学問的意味を問いたすため、皆様と議論ができますことを楽しみにしております。

寅年には、厳しい冬を超え、芽吹き、新しい成長につながるという意味もあります。未だコロナ状況が終息せず、いろいろな制限があり、窮屈な思いをされていることと思いますが、この状況を協力して乗り越えて、新しい希望ある社会に向かっていくように、心から祈っています。

細田 満和子

Saluti dal Presidente dell'International Sociological Association, RC15 Sociology of Health

Miwako Hosoda, Università di Seisa, Giappone

Buon anno!

L'anno 2022 è iniziato, quindi come va? Quest'anno è l'anno della tigre in Giappone. L'anno della tigre è associato all'immagine di resistere alle avversità e andare avanti.

L'anno scorso, il COVID-19 è stato un importante argomento di discussione nel mondo e si pensava che la malattia sarebbe finita quando il vaccino sarebbe stato disponibile, ma con la comparsa di ceppi varianti, la situazione è ancora imprevedibile. Speriamo in una ripresa precoce della vita quotidiana, ma ci sono anche problemi come la disuguaglianza nella distribuzione dei vaccini tra i paesi e la discriminazione nei confronti di coloro che non possono o non ricevono i vaccini. Riconosciamo ancora una volta che il COVID-19 non è solo un problema medico, ma anche sociale.

Poiché il COVID-19 è stato difficile da controllare, il XX ISA World Congress of Sociology, originariamente previsto per il 2022, si terrà ora dal 25 giugno al 1 luglio 2023 a Melbourne, in Australia. Attualmente è in programma di tenerlo ibrido in presenza e online. Il tema della conferenza è "L'autoritarismo risorgente: la sociologia dei nuovi intrecci di religioni, politiche ed economie". Non vedo l'ora di discutere con tutti voi nuovi modi di relazionarsi con la sociologia e la società nel caotico mondo di oggi, e di rimettere in discussione il significato della disciplina.

L'anno della tigre rappresenta anche la sopravvivenza al rigido inverno e la crescita durante tutto l'anno. So che la situazione del COVID-19 non è ancora finita e che soffrite ancora di varie restrizioni e vincoli, ma spero sinceramente che possiamo lavorare insieme per superare questa situazione e muoverci verso una società nuova e piena di speranza.

Auguri,

Miwako Hosoda

Saudações da Presidente da Associação Internacional de Sociologia, RC15 Sociologia da Saúde

Miwako Hosoda, Universidade de Seisa, Japão

Feliz Ano Novo!

O ano de 2022 começou – então, como você está? Este ano é o Ano do Tigre no Japão. O ano do tigre está associado à imagem de enfrentar a adversidade e seguir em frente.

No ano passado, a COVID-19 foi um grande tema de discussão no mundo e pensava-se que a doença chegaria ao fim quando a vacina estivesse disponível, mas com o aparecimento de cepas variantes a situação ainda é imprevisível. Esperamos a rápida retomada da vida cotidiana, mas também há problemas como a desigualdade na distribuição de vacinas entre os países e a discriminação daqueles que não podem ou não recebem vacinas. Reconhecemos mais uma vez que o COVID-19 não é apenas um problema médico, mas também um problema social.

Como a COVID-19 tem sido difícil de controlar, o XX Congresso Mundial de Sociologia da ISA, originalmente programado para 2022, agora será realizado de 25 de junho a 1º de julho de 2023, em Melbourne, Austrália. Atualmente, está sendo planejado para ser híbrido com atividades presenciais e online. O tema do congresso é “Autoritarismo ressurgente: a sociologia de novos emaranhados de religiões, políticas e economias”. Estou ansiosa para discutir com todos vocês as novas formas de se relacionar sociologia e sociedade no mundo caótico de hoje e, também, questionar novamente o significado da disciplina.

O ano do tigre também representa sobreviver ao inverno rigoroso e crescer bem ao longo do ano. Sei que a situação da COVID-19 não acabou e que você ainda está sofrendo com várias restrições e constrangimentos, mas espero sinceramente que possamos trabalhar juntos para superar essa situação e avançar em direção a uma sociedade nova e esperançosa.

Muitas felicidades,

Miwako Hosoda

XX ISA WORLD CONGRESS OF SOCIOLOGY, MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA 25 JUNE - 1 JULY 2023

Resurgent Authoritarianism: The Sociology of New Entanglements of Religions, Politics, and Economies

The next ISA World Congress is now planned to take place to 25 June-1 July 2023

Overview

In terms of the overarching theme, the global rise of authoritarianism, as well as populism, xenophobia, and racism, makes our task as sociologists more crucial than ever. This dilemma is assisted by the gradual symbolic thickening of public culture through combinations of extreme nationalist and religious fervour underpin the Congress.

What is the best way to analyse global resurgent authoritarianism? In addition to dealing with the scars of the colonial era, a postcolonial approach should be supplemented with another approach; we need to find ways to diagnose and resist this resurgence. This approach should take into account how authoritarianism affects not only our societies, but also our knowledge production. The self-centred and unspoken have become more important than the told and argued. We are concerned not only with the hard authoritarianism that heralds the brutalization of society and politics, but also the soft authoritarianism that often thrives in the shadow of neoliberalism, as the state moves deftly in the open or in secret to devise modes of governance that shore up its power against popular discontent.

A special interest of our Congress is how to disaggregate the Western, but also sociological, assumption of secularism as inherent in modern society and at the same time analytically dissociate the state from religion. While this separation is still a crucial pathway toward democracy and citizenship, the process needs to be problematized. We particularly look forward to discussing the promising avenues of inquiry within sociology and related disciplines about what have been termed 'post-secular societies' and 'multiple secularities'.

Thus the Congress will focus on how sociologists worldwide can (and do) contribute to the understanding of the resurgent authoritarianism and analyse the new entanglements of religions, politics, and economies. It will also focus on how sociologists engage (physically and critically) in the formidable social movements we are witnessing today in different parts of the world and in a renascent civil society.

Forthcoming planned deadlines:

- 7 March 2022: Announcement of Programme Coordinator/s.
- 10 May 2022: Submission of proposals (for Integrative Sessions, Regular Sessions by Associations, Author meets Critic Sessions and Ad Hoc Sessions) to the ISA Secretariat. The ISA Programme Committee will announce its decisions on accepted proposals on 31 May 2022.
- 2-31 May 2022: Call for Sessions (submitted via the Confex platform).
- 1-26 June 2022: Programme Coordinators to finalise the sessions.
- 1 July 2022 to 30 September 2022: Abstracts submission. Abstracts submitted online via the Confex platform.
- 7 October to 7 November 2022: Abstracts selection.
- 8 November to 25 November 2022: Abstracts re-location. Further sessions cannot be added after the deadline.

SURVEY

PUBLICATIONS ON COVID-19

Miwako Hosoda, our President, is currently compiling a list of books, book chapters and articles by RC15 members on COVID-19. She has received a very good response so far, but if you are interested, please complete and return the form below to miwhosoda@seisa.ac.jp by the deadline of 25 January 2022:

BOOK SERIES

SOCIOLOGY OF HEALTH PROFESSIONS: FUTURE INTERNATIONAL DIRECTIONS

This series co-edited by Mike Saks and Mike Dent centres on the production of high quality, original work in the sociology of health professions with an innovative focus on the future directions of such professions. It covers a wide range of health professional areas, and interrelated health fields such as social care, medicine, nursing and allied health.

It is oriented towards final year/postgraduate students, academic lecturers and researchers, practitioners and policy makers. Its general aims are:

- To inform/stimulate debate about the sociology of health professions
- To influence policy development and practice in the fields concerned
- To make a significant contribution to thinking in the sociology of health
- To produce original national/international work of recognised high quality.

This is a reminder that proposals for future books in the series are invited. These should be submitted in the first instance to the series co-editors Mike Saks (m.saks@uos.ac.uk) and Mike Dent (Mike.Dent@staffs.ac.uk).

Currently published books in the series include:

- J. M. Chamberlain, M. Dent and M. Saks (eds) (2018) Professional Health Regulation in the Public Interest: International Perspectives.
- M. Saks (ed) (2020) Support Workers and the Health Professions in International Perspective: The Invisible Providers of Health Care.
- S. Nancarrow and A. Borthwick (2021) The Allied Health Professions: A Sociological Perspective.
- J-L. Denis, S. Germain, C. Régis and G. Veronesi (2022) Medical Doctors in Health Reform: A Comparative Study of England and Canada

NEW JOURNAL

Professor Stefan Timmermans, UCLA, has asked that the RC15 Newsletter publicises a new open access journal entitled SSM- Qualitative Research in Health, of which he is Editor-in-Chief. For further details see: <https://www.journals.elsevier.com/ssm-qualitative-research-in-health>

CALL FOR PAPERS

Call for papers on the Research Topic of ‘Religion and Bioethics: A Sociological Perspective’ for the journal Frontiers in Sociology

Editors: Dr Tyler Tate (Oregon Health and Science University, United States and Hossein Godzgar (Warwick University, United Kingdom)

Both ‘religion’ and ‘morality’ were central themes in sociology as practised by its pioneers in the late-19th and early-20th centuries. However, their central position as major fields of social scientific enquiry and attention has been lost over time. This research topic is an attempt to recover these traditional, long-forgotten, but vital, parts of sociology. In doing so, it focuses on the conceptual interrelationship between the meanings of ‘religion’ and ‘bioethics’ at the ‘first-order’, everyday ‘lay’ or ‘folk’ level in various social contexts across the world from countries of the ‘global north’ to those of the ‘global south’ and from so-called ‘Abrahamic religions’ – from Judaism, Christianity and Islam, to ‘non-Abrahamic religions’, such as Hinduism, Buddhism, Shintoism, Confucianism, Sikhism and the so-called ‘indigenous religions’ of animism, naturalism and totemism.

This research topic presupposes that the meanings of both ‘religion’, as highlighted by Beckford (2003), and ‘bioethics’, as emphasised by Nietzsche (1990) and Charles Taylor (1985) in relation to the definition of ‘morality’, are by no means unitary, universal, fixed and homogenous. Their definitions change across various social contexts in time and space. As Steven Lukes (2010), referring to Hacking (1999), stresses in relation to ‘morality’, contingency, nominalism and externalism are essential components of both ‘religion’ and ‘bioethics’. Therefore, it would be fascinating to explore and understand how and to what extent the understandings of ‘religion’ (and its cognate terms, including ‘non-religion’) and ‘bioethics’ (in relation to themes such as cloning, abortion, organ transplantation and blood transfusion, sexual health and orientation, the value of life, death, killing and letting die) intersect each other in various social contexts.

Keywords: Sociology, social theory, social constructionism, religion, culture, spirituality, bioethics, medical ethics, practical ethics, morality, social movements, religious movements, secularization, sacralization.

The call for papers is also available at:

<https://www.frontiersin.org/research-topics/25414/religion-and-bioethics-a-sociological-perspective>

Submission deadlines are 31 January 2022 for Abstracts and 4 July 2022 for full manuscripts. Please note that there will be a thorough scientific peer-review process.

Call for Papers for the Thematic Issue on ‘Innovations for better health and social justice’ – in the BMC Health Services Research Journal

Editor: Magdalena Szaflarski (Associate Professor and Director of Graduate Studies, Department of Sociology, University of Alabama at Birmingham, USA - szaflam@uab.edu)

This journal has launched a collection to curate innovative research broadly examining the environmental, political, and social factors that perpetuate health inequities and social injustices in health systems. This collection supports the call by Health Systems Global to consider how we can re-imagine health systems for better health and social justice, and UN Sustainable Development Goals 3 and 10, good health and wellbeing, and reduced inequalities

Submissions are encouraged covering the following topics:

- Accessibility and affordability of care
- All forms of prejudice, discrimination, and marginalization
- Corruption
- Freedom of movement and borders
- Health disparities
- Health policy, politics and power
- New technologies, artificial intelligence, and big data for combatting health inequities
- Quality of health services and meeting the healthcare needs of people facing discrimination and marginalization
- Resource distribution.

Research may focus on specific marginalized population groups, such as indigenous populations or ethnic minority groups.

Open to submissions until May 2022. For more information about the collection and how to submit, visit: <https://www.biomedcentral.com/collections/IBHSJ>

UNITED NATIONS

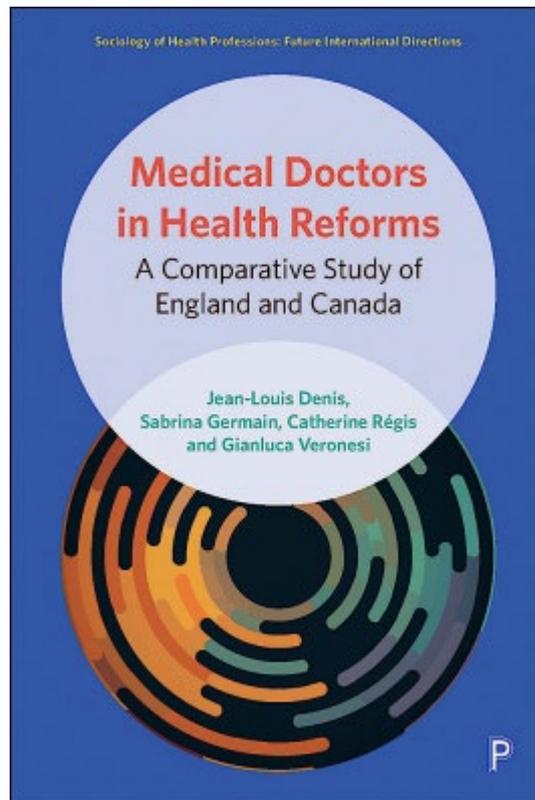

Associated with this, Mike Saks is now Chair of the UN-endorsed Institute for Responsible Leadership which is actively seeking to recruit new members. For further details see its website: www.responsible-leadership.org.uk. Mike is also editing the following book in association with the United Nations, which has considerable health relevance, and is scheduled for publication in late summer 2022 when more details will be given:

NEW BOOKS

Medical Doctors in Health Reforms: A Comparative Study of England and Canada Policy Press

By Jean-Louis Denis, Sabrina Germain, Catherine Régis and Gianluca Veronesi

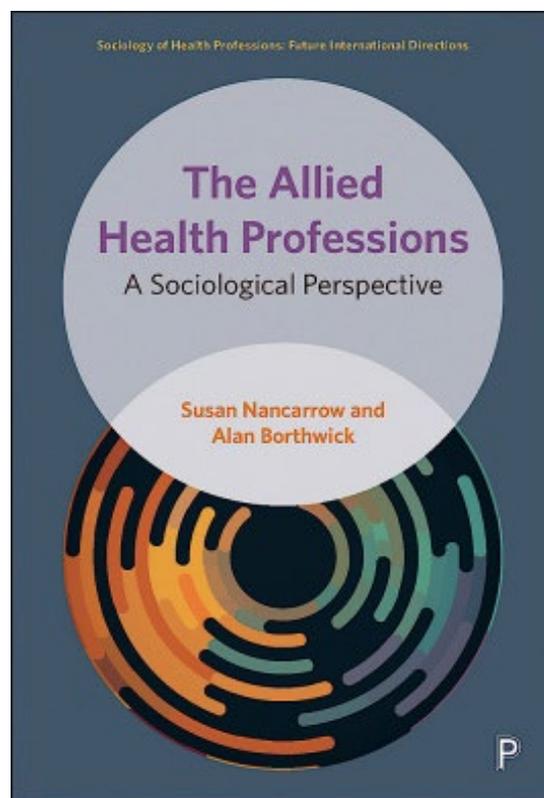

Discounts may be available as advertised on publisher's website

Overview

This timely comparative study published this month in 2022 assesses the role of medical doctors in reforming publicly funded health services in England and Canada. Respected authors from health and legal backgrounds on both sides of the Atlantic consider how the high status of the profession uniquely influences reforms. With summaries of developments in models of care, and the participation of doctors since the inception of publicly funded healthcare systems, they ask whether professionals might be considered allies or enemies of policy-makers. With insights for future health policy and research, the book is an important contribution to debates about the complex relationship between doctors and the systems in which they practice.

The Allied Health Professions: A Sociological Perspective Policy Press

By Susan Nancarrow and Alan Borthwick

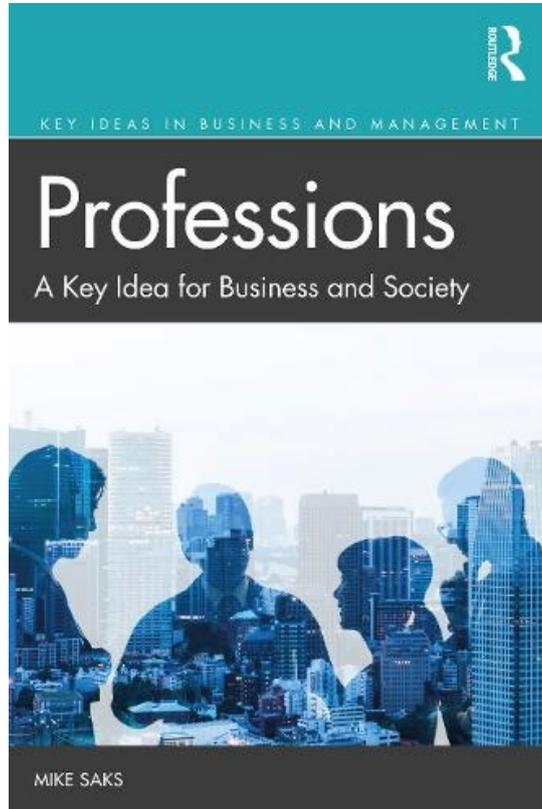

Discounts may be available as advertised on publisher's website

Overview

The allied health professions have gained legitimacy through the pursuit of research evidence and the standardisation of practice. Yet there remains very little analysis or understanding of these professions. Adopting theory from the sociology of health professions, this unique text published in 2021 explores the sociological, economic, political and philosophical pressures that have shaped the professions. Drawing on case studies and examples from occupations including optometrists, occupational therapists and physiotherapists to emerging vocations, including podiatrists and allied health assistants, this book offers an innovative comparison of allied health professions in Australia and Britain. By telling the story of their past, this original book prepares the allied health professions for a new and different future.

Professions: A Key Idea for Business and Society Routledge

By Mike Saks

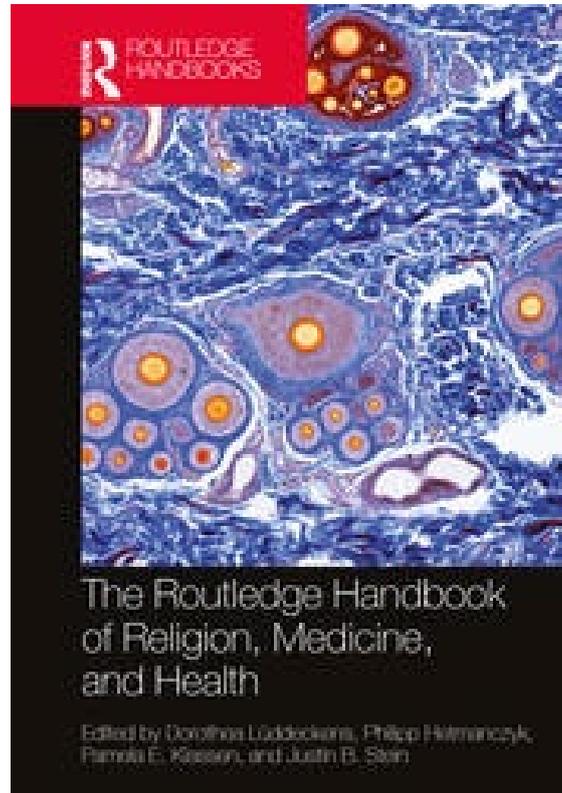

Discounts may be available as advertised on publisher's website

Overview

Professions and professionalism have played an integral part in business and society. In this book published in paperback and hardback in 2021, Mike Saks provides a thorough overview of this field through an analysis of a range of professions, including, amongst others, accountants, doctors and lawyers. This book offers a critical analysis of such privileged occupational groups in modern societies. Anticipating a positive if changing role for such groups in the years ahead, the book outlines conflicting theoretical perspectives on professions and discusses current developments in an accessible, multi-disciplinary style. The book documents their evolution and contemporary transformation from medieval guilds to fully-fledged professions and international professional service firms, while pointing a path towards their future in the world of work and beyond. With insights into the recent challenges provided by clients, citizens, the state and corporations in neo-liberal societies, Professions provides a concise overview that will be essential reading for students, academics and others interested in the operation of these key occupational groups in business and society.

The Routledge Handbook of Religion, Medicine, and Health

Edited By Dorothea Lüddeckens, Philipp Hetmanczyk, Pamela E. Klassen and Justin B. Stein

Discounts may be available as advertised on publisher's website

Overview

The relationships between religion, spirituality, health, biomedical institutions, complementary, and alternative healing systems are widely discussed today. While many of these debates revolve around the biomedical legitimacy of religious modes of healing, the market for them continues to grow. The Routledge Handbook of Religion, Medicine, and Health is an outstanding reference source to the key topics, problems, and debates in this exciting subject and is the first collection of its kind. Published in November 2021 and comprising over thirty-five chapters by a team of international contributors, the Handbook is divided into five parts:

- Healing practices with religious roots and frames
- Religious actors in and around the medical field
- Organizing infrastructures of religion and medicine: pluralism and competition
- Boundary-making between religion and medicine
- Religion and epidemics.

Within these sections, central issues, debates and problems are examined, including health and healing, religiosity, spirituality, biomedicine, medicalization, complementary medicine, medical therapy, efficacy, agency, and the nexus of body, mind, and spirit.

REPORTS

Mike Saks would like to announce the launch in November 2021 of the commissioned Report of the Royal College of Podiatry Workforce, Education and Development Strategy Group, which he chaired. The multidisciplinary 'Saks Report' makes 28 recommendations for the College, the Council and the profession so that podiatry can take opportunities to augment its position within the UK. It will be pivotal to the Royal College in developing its strategy over the next five years and can be read in full at the following web address: <https://rcpod.org.uk/saksreport>

ITEMS FOR NEXT ISSUE

If you have any items relevant to RC15 – from conference reports/announcements to publications – for inclusion in the next Newsletter, please send them by the end of June 2022 at the latest to Mike Saks. Email: m.saks@uos.ac.uk
