2nd ISA Forum Logotype

The filete porteño is an artistic drawing typically used in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Following this style, 2 keywords were used to symbolize the complex idea of the "Social Justice" and "Democratization": "people" and "ballot boxes". People were represented with an attitude towards life of happiness and hope. Three shapes represent human bodies; one of them is hugging a circular shape that contains the second keyword, a "Ballot Box", that symbolizes democratization, together with the voting paper.

Welcome Bienvenida Bienvenue

Welcome address by the President of the International Sociological Association

Michael Burawoy

President of the ISA

- It is a great pleasure to welcome the delegates to the second Forum of the International Sociological Association here in Buenos Aires. We were last in Latin America in 1982, when the World Congress was held in Mexico City. It proved to be a turning point in the development of our association and I expect our visit to Buenos Aires to represent a similar renaissance, breaking attendance records and projecting new visions for sociology.

Although we are here first and foremost as a meeting of our 55 Research Committees (and our Thematic Groups and Working Groups), nevertheless the Forum is also committed to projecting the public face of sociology. Thus, the organizers have endowed our meeting with a most fitting theme – Social Justice and Democratization. It is fitting because this last year has seen movements for social justice and democratization sweep across the planet from the Arab Spring to the Indignados to the Occupy Movement to the International Student Movement. This wave of social protest is still only in its infancy, but it has inspired sociologists to interrogate the very meaning both of social justice and of democratization. The theme is fitting for a second reason: sociologists, but Latin American sociologists in particular, have distinguished themselves in the relentless pursuit of both social justice and democratization, often against brutal dictatorships and foreign interventions. Finally, the theme is fitting because sociology has a long and laudable tradition of studying not only the conditions of their mutual expansion, but also the complex, and often contradictory, relations between social justice and democratization.

The Forum has only been possible due to the sustained and dedicated work of Margaret Abraham, ISA Vice-President and

Forum President, the Local Organizing Committee headed by its co-Presidents, Alberto Bialakowsky and Alicia Palermo, and the ISA Secretariat in Madrid. We would not be here were it not for the generosity of the administration of the University of Buenos Aires who have offered us their premises to host this huge event. I thank them all and their many assistants and aids, and I welcome you all to what will be a most memorable event.

Michael Burawoy

Bienvenida del Presidente de la Asociación Internacional de Sociología

Es un gran placer dar la bienvenida a los delegados del Segundo Fórum de la Asociación Internacional de Sociología aquí en Buenos Aires. Estuvimos por última vez en Latinoamérica en 1982, cuando el Congreso Mundial se celebró en la Ciudad de México. Fue un punto de inflexión en el desarrollo de nuestra asociación y espero que nuestra visita a Buenos Aires provoque un auge similar, batiendo récords de asistencia y planteando nuevos rumbos para la sociología.

Aunque estamos aquí principalmente para reunir nuestros 55 Comités de Investigación, así como nuestros Grupos Temáticos y Grupos de Trabajo, el Fórum también tiene el objetivo de difundir la imagen pública de la sociología. Por ello, los organizadores asignaron a nuestra reunión el tema de "Justicia social y democratización". Es especialmente adecuado dado que el año pasado se produjeron movimientos por la justicia social y la democratización en todo el mundo como la Primavera Árabe, los Indignados, Ocupa Wall Street y el Movimiento Internacional de Estudiantes. Esta ola de protesta social, todavía en sus inicios, ha alentado a los sociólogos a examinar el significado mismo de los conceptos de justicia social y democratización. El tema también es adecuado por una segunda razón: los sociólogos –y en particular los sociólogos latinoamericanos– se han distinguido por la búsqueda permanente tanto de justicia social como de democratización, a menudo contra dictaduras brutales e intervenciones extranjeras. Por último, el tema es adecuado porque la sociología tiene una larga y encomiable tradición de estudiar no sólo las condiciones de su mutua expansión sino también las relaciones complejas, y con frecuencia contradictorias, entre la justicia social y la democratización.

Agradezco a Margaret Abraham, Vice-Presidenta de la AIS y Presidenta del Fórum, al Comité Organizador Local encabezado por sus co-Presidentes, Alberto Bialakowsky y Alicia Palermo, y al Secretariado de la AIS en Madrid, su arduo trabajo en la organización de este Fórum. No estaríamos aquí sin la generosidad de la Universidad de Buenos Aires, que nos ha ofrecido sus instalaciones como sede para este gran evento. Les doy las gracias a todos ellos y a sus muchos ayudantes y voluntarios, y les doy la bienvenida a este evento, que será memorable.

Presidente de la ISA

Message de bienvenue du Président de l'Association Internationale de Sociologie

C'est un grand plaisir d'accueillir les délégués au deuxième Forum de l'Association Internationale de Sociologie ici à Buenos Aires. Le dernier événement de ce type qui ait eu lieu en Amérique latine remonte à 1982, à l'occasion du Congrès mondial qui s'était tenu à Mexico. Ce Congrès a marqué un tournant dans le développement de notre association et j'espère que notre venue à Buenos Aires sera porteuse d'une semblable renaissance, en battant des records de participation et en proposant de nouvelles perspectives pour la sociologie.

Bien que nous soyons ici présents d'abord et avant tout pour réunir nos 55 Comités de Recherche (ainsi que de nos Groupes Thématiques et Groupes de Travail), ce Forum vise également à présenter l'aspect public de la sociologie. Par conséquent, cette rencontre a été organisée sur un thème particulièrement approprié : Justice sociale et Démocratisation. Le thème est approprié sachant que l'année passée a vu déferler dans le monde entier des mouvements en faveur de la justice sociale et de la démocratisation, depuis le printemps arabe jusqu'au mouvement des indignados, en passant par le mouvement Occupy et le mouvement international des étudiants. Cette vague de protestation sociale n'en est encore qu'à ses débuts, mais elle a amené les sociologues à s'interroger sur le vrai sens de la justice sociale et de la démocratisation. Il y a une deuxième raison pour laquelle ce thème est approprié : les sociologues, et en particulier les sociologues latino-américains, se sont illustrés par leur inlassable quête à la fois de justice et de démocratisation, souvent en opposition à la brutalité des dictatures et aux interventions étrangères. Enfin, le thème est approprié dans la mesure où la sociologie s'intéresse depuis longtemps non seulement aux conditions de l'expansion mutuelle de la justice sociale et de la démocratisation, mais aussi à leurs relations complexes et souvent contradictoires.

Ce Forum n'est devenu réalité que grâce au travail de longue haleine et au dévouement de Margaret Abraham, Vice-Présidente de l'ISA et Présidente du Forum, du Comité Local d'Organisation dirigé par ses co-Présidents, Alberto Bialakowsky et Alicia Palermo, et du Secrétariat de l'ISA à Madrid. Et nous ne serions pas ici sans la générosité de l'administration de l'Université de Buenos Aires, qui a accepté d'accueillir ce grand événement dans ses locaux. Je les remercie tous, ainsi que tous ceux qui les ont aidés dans leur tâche, et vous souhaite à tous la bienvenue pour ce qui va constituer un évènement particulièrement mémorable.

Welcome from ISA Vice-President Research Council and Forum President

Margaret Abraham

ISA Vice-President,
Research Council
ISA Forum President

• Dear colleagues and friends,

On behalf of the International Sociological Association it is my great honor to welcome you all to the Second ISA Forum of Sociology in Buenos Aires! Our Forum theme of "Social Justice and Democratization" is particularly timely. This past year, we have witnessed how people across the globe have been challenging oppressive social, political, and economic regimes with indomitable courage, striving for social justice and daring against all odds to take the difficult roads to democratization. As sociologists, it is critical for us to consider the multiple ways that our sociological research, pedagogy, policy and practice can substantively address the complex issues and formidable dilemmas of our time. This Forum provides an excellent platform for us to proactively engage in the international dissemination, exchange of information and global dialogue that can contribute to transformative change.

We have developed a strong program for this Second ISA Forum of Sociology. Much of the success for the scientific wealth, scale, and diversity of this program is the result of the immense efforts of the 55 ISA Research Committees, Thematic and Working Groups whose sessions are the foremost priority of this Forum held in Buenos Aires. Through their various research specialties and collaborative endeavors, these groups, under the stewardship of their respective program coordinators, have together organized over six hundred and fifty sessions. These sessions cover a range of topics, including many issues and regions that specifically focus on the Forum theme. The Latin American Sociological Association and the Argentinian Association of Sociology, our local organizational partners for this Forum have also put together thirty additional sessions that further expand our focus on Latin America. In addition, we have organized four plenary sessions especially devoted to deepening our understanding of social justice and democratization, gender and human rights, social and economic inequalities, and public sociology which we hope will stimulate further discussion and debate. As we know Latin America has been an important site for the study of social justice and democratization and Latin American sociologists have been deeply committed to research and action in the struggles for social justice and democratization. We are therefore fortunate to have the Local Organizing Committee setting up two important Open Forum sessions that specifically spotlight social justice and the processes of democratization in Latin America.

I am extremely pleased to share that, fitting with the theme of this Second ISA Forum and as part of my commitment as ISA Vice President for Research, we have also launched a new ISA initiative to create a virtual open access "Social Justice and Democratization Space". This initiative, in conjunction with Robert Rojek, SAGE Publications, is designed to promote more open, equal, and sustainable forms of knowledge production, dissemination, and exchange. Such open access virtual space has the potential to break down borders and boundaries and offer us greater possibilities to share our sociological research, pedagogy, policy and practices in the public sphere.

A tremendous amount of work has been undertaken at the backstage to ensure the success of this Forum with more than 3600 participants from 88 countries. The ISA Secretariat in Madrid, led by Izabela Barlinska, Executive Secretary, has been crucial in all stages of preparing for this big event. Michael Burawoy, ISA President, the Research Coordinating Committee and the Executive Committee have all been an integral part of this journey. I want to also take this opportunity to thank the Local Organizing Committee headed by its co-Presidents, Alberto L. Bialakowsky and Alicia I. Palermo, for their collaboration and also to convey a deep appreciation to our host, the University of Buenos Aires for opening this wonderful academic venue to all of us.

To each of you conference participants who have come from all over the world, I hope this Second ISA Forum provides an excellent opportunity to share your research, learn from one another, enjoy the new intellectual challenges that emerge in international meetings and discussions, learn about the traditions, history and culture of Argentina, form new friendships and strategize about social change. Ultimately, I hope that this Forum on the theme of social justice and democratization will result in ongoing dialogue and exchange of ideas and that it will strengthen the links between sociologists and the public sphere, at the same time as it will enlarge and make the latter more inclusive.

Once again a very warm welcome and I personally hope to meet many of you during the Forum!

Bienvenida de la Vice-Presidenta del Consejo de Investigación y Presidenta del Fórum de la ISA

Estimados colegas y amigos:

En nombre de la Asociación Internacional de Sociología es para mí un gran honor darles la bienvenida al Segundo Fórum de la ISA en Buenos Aires. El tema del Fórum, "Justicia social y democratización", es particularmente oportuno. El año pasado fuimos testigos de cómo por todo el mundo la gente desafió regímenes opresivos en lo social, lo político y lo económico con valentía inquebrantable; aspirando a la justicia social y atreviéndose pese a todos los obstáculos a emprender el difícil camino de la democratización. Como sociólogos, es fundamental que tengamos en cuenta las múltiples maneras en que nuestra investigación, pedagogía, política y práctica sociológica pueden examinar a fondo las cuestiones complejas y los enormes dilemas de nuestra época. Este Fórum proporciona una excelente plataforma para que nos involucremos de forma proactiva en la difusión internacional, el intercambio de información y el diálogo global, que pueden contribuir a un cambio transformador.

Hemos desarrollado un sólido programa para este Segundo Fórum de Sociología de la ISA. Gran parte del éxito en términos de riqueza científica, amplitud y diversidad del programa se debe a los inmensos esfuerzos de los 55 Comités de Investigación de la ISA, así como los Grupos Temáticos y de Trabajo, cuyas sesiones son la máxima prioridad de este Fórum en Buenos Aires. A través de sus numerosas investigaciones especializadas y proyectos de colaboración, estos grupos, bajo la gestión de los respectivos Coordinadores de Programa, han organizado más de 650 sesiones.

Estas sesiones abarcan una amplia gama de asuntos, muchos de los cuales se centran en cuestiones y regiones directamente relacionadas con el tema del Fórum. La Asociación Latinoamericana de Sociología y la Asociación Argentina de Sociología, nuestros co-organizadores locales para este Fórum, han organizado treinta sesiones adicionales que amplían nuestro alcance en Latinoamérica. Además, hemos organizado cuatro sesiones plenarias especialmente dedicadas a profundizar en nuestra comprensión de la justicia social y la democratización, el género y los derechos humanos, las desigualdades sociales y económicas, y la sociología pública, que esperamos fomenten todavía más el diálogo y el debate. Como sabemos, Latinoamérica ha sido una región importante para el estudio de la justicia social y la democratización y los sociólogos latinoamericanos han estado profundamente comprometidos con la investigación y la acción en estas luchas. En esta línea, el Comité Organizador Local ha organizado dos importantes sesiones del Foro Abierto que hacen hincapié específicamente en la justicia social y los procesos de democratización en Latinoamérica.

Acorde con el tema de este Segundo Fórum de la ISA y como parte de mi compromiso como Vicepresidenta de Investigación de la ISA, me complace sobremanera compartir con ustedes que hemos puesto en marcha una nueva iniciativa para crear un "espacio de justicia social y democratización" virtual y de acceso abierto. Esta iniciativa se ha diseñado, conjuntamente con Robert Rojek de la editorial SAGE, para fomentar formas más abiertas, igualitarias y sostenibles de producción, difusión e intercambio del conocimiento. Este espacio virtual de acceso abierto tiene el potencial de romper las fronteras y ofrecernos mayores posibilidades de compartir nuestra investigación, pedagogía, política y prácticas sociológicas en la esfera pública.

Se ha realizado un enorme esfuerzo entre bastidores para velar por el éxito de este Fórum con más de 3600 participantes de 88 países. La Secretaría de la ISA en Madrid, dirigida por Izabela Barlinska, Secretaria Ejecutiva, ha sido indispensable en todas las etapas de la preparación de este gran evento. Michael Burawoy, Presidente de la ISA, el Comité Coordinador de Investigación y el Comité Ejecutivo han sido parte integrante de esta labor. También quiero aprovechar la ocasión de agradecer al Comité Organizador Local, encabezado por sus co-presidentes Alberto L. Bialakowsky y Alicia I. Palermo, por su colaboración y también deseo transmitir un profundo agradecimiento a nuestro anfitrión, la Universidad de Buenos Aires, por acogernos a todos en esta magnífica sede académica.

A los participantes de esta conferencia que han venido de todo el mundo, espero que este Segundo Fórum de la ISA les proporcione una excelente oportunidad de compartir vuestra investigación, aprender de los demás, disfrutar de los desafíos intelectuales que surgen en las reuniones y diálogos internacionales, aprender de las tradiciones, historia y cultura de la Argentina, forjar nuevas amistades y desarrollar estrategias para el cambio social. En definitiva, espero que este Fórum sobre "Justicia social y democratización" dé lugar a un diálogo e intercambio de ideas continuo y que fortalezca los lazos entre los sociólogos y la esfera pública, al tiempo que convierta dicha esfera pública en más grande e inclusiva.

Una vez más, les doy una cálida bienvenida y espero conocer personalmente a muchos de ustedes durante el Fórum.

Message de bienvenue du Vice-Présidente du Conseil de la Recherche y Présidente du Forum de l'ISA

Chers collègues, chers amis,

Au nom de l'Association Internationale de Sociologie, c'est pour moi un grand honneur de vous accueillir à ce deuxième Forum de Sociologie de l'ISA à Buenos Aires ! Le thème de notre Forum, « Justice sociale et Démocratisation », vient particulièrement à propos. Depuis l'année dernière, nous avons pu voir comment, dans le monde entier, des personnes se sont élevées avec un courage sans bornes contre des régimes sociaux, politiques et économiques oppressifs, luttant pour la justice sociale et osant malgré tous les obstacles s'engager sur les voies ardues de la démocratisation. En tant que sociologues, il est essentiel pour nous de prendre en considération les multiples manières dont nos recherches, notre pédagogie, nos orientations et notre pratique dans le domaine de la sociologie peuvent nous permettre d'aborder de manière approfondie les problèmes complexes et les dilemmes considérables de notre temps. Ce Forum constitue pour nous une excellente occasion de jouer un rôle en amont dans la diffusion, l'échange d'informations et le dialogue à l'échelle internationale qui sont susceptibles de contribuer à un changement en profondeur.

Nous avons élaboré un solide programme pour ce deuxième Forum de Sociologie de l'ISA. Une part importante de la réussite de ce programme, en termes de richesse, d'envergure et de diversité scientifiques, est le fruit des efforts considérables déployés par les 55 Comités de Recherche et Groupes Thématiques et de Travail de l'ISA, dont les séances constituent la toute première priorité de ce Forum de Buenos Aires. Grâce à leurs différents domaines de spécialité et à leurs efforts de collaboration, ces groupes ont, sous la houlette de leurs organisateurs respectifs, organisé ensemble plus de 650 séances. Ces séances concernent un large éventail de sujets, dont de nombreuses problématiques et régions spécifiquement axées sur le thème du Forum. L'Association Latino-Américaine de Sociologie et l'Association Argentine de Sociologie, nos partenaires chargés de l'organisation de ce Forum au niveau local, ont également mis en place 30 séances supplémentaires plus centrées sur l'Amérique latine. En outre, quatre séances plénières ont été spécialement conçues pour nous permettre d'approfondir notre compréhension concernant la justice sociale et la démocratisation, les questions de genre et les droits de l'homme, les inégalités sociales et économiques et la sociologie publique, qui, nous l'espérons, susciteront de nouveaux débats. On le sait, l'Amérique latine a constitué un terrain important pour l'étude de la justice sociale et de la démocratisation, et les sociologues latino-américains ont, à travers leurs recherches et leur action, été fortement engagés dans les luttes pour la justice sociale et la démocratisation. Nous avons ainsi la chance d'avoir le Comité Local d'Organisation qui organise deux importantes séances de Forum ouvert qui mettent spécifiquement l'accent sur la justice sociale et les processus de démocratisation en Amérique latine.

J'ai le grand plaisir de vous informer que, en accord avec le thème de ce deuxième Forum de l'ISA et au titre de mon engagement en tant que Vice-Présidente de l'ISA à la Recherche, nous avons par ailleurs lancé une nouvelle initiative de l'ISA visant à créer un « Espace pour la Justice sociale et la Démocratisation » en libre accès virtuel. Cette initiative, réalisée conjointement avec Robert Rojek (SAGE Publications), est destinée à favoriser des formes de production, de diffusion et d'échange des savoirs plus ouvertes, égalitaires et durables. Ce type d'espace virtuel en accès libre est susceptible d'abolir les frontières et d'élargir nos possibilités de partager au sein de la sphère publique nos recherches, notre pédagogie, nos orientations et nos pratiques dans le domaine de la sociologie.

Dans les coulisses, un travail considérable a été réalisé pour assurer la réussite de ce Forum, avec plus de 3600 participants venus de 88 pays. Le Secrétariat de l'ISA à Madrid, dirigé par Izabela Barlinska (Secrétaire Exécutive), a joué un rôle déterminant à toutes les étapes des préparatifs en vue de ce grand évènement. Michael Burawoy (Président de l'ISA), ainsi que le Comité de Coordination de la Recherche et le Comité Exécutif, ont tous pleinement participé à cette entreprise. Je voudrais également profiter de cette occasion pour remercier pour leur collaboration le Comité Local d'Organisation dirigé par ses co-Présidents, Alberto L. Bialakowsky et Alicia I. Palermo, mais aussi transmettre ma profonde reconnaissance à notre hôte, l'Université de Buenos Aires, pour nous avoir ouvert les portes de cette formidable institution.

À chacun de vous, participants à ce congrès qui êtes venus du monde entier, je souhaite que cette deuxième édition du Forum de l'ISA soit une excellente occasion de partager vos recherches, d'apprendre les uns des autres, d'apprécier les nouveaux défis intellectuels qui émergent lors de ces rencontres et débats internationaux, d'en savoir plus sur les traditions, l'histoire et la culture argentines, de nouer de nouvelles amitiés et d'imaginer des stratégies pour le changement social. Enfin, j'espère que ce Forum sur le thème de la justice sociale et de la démocratisation va entraîner un dialogue et un échange d'idées qui vont se poursuivre, et renforcer les liens entre les sociologues et la sphère publique tout en élargissant et rendant cette dernière plus participative.

Encore une fois, je vous souhaite chaleureusement la bienvenue et j'espère avoir l'occasion de rencontrer personnellement beaucoup d'entre vous pendant le Forum !

A quick historical note. A little more than a decade ago, during the crisis experienced in Argentina in 2001, involving the economic collapse, the brutal crisis of the national currency, and of its symbolic value, all taking place in a context of social war, evictions, and impoverishment during that fateful month of December, was one of the greatest fractures ever suffered by our society since the bloody dictatorship (1976-1983). This crisis occurred, much to our surprise, in a time of full democracy, bringing about a restructuring of society, a social bifurcation. Here, there and everywhere, there were warnings accumulating collectively and subjectively.

All this to say, dear colleagues from the world over, that in those days of social fragmentation and emergence of the masses, something remarkable happened: civil society came together to create hundreds of "neighborhood forums"; people gathered together to think about a way out towards "change for a livable world".

Within academia, we have often asked ourselves: how can we think collectively in the midst of devastation? In these days we have turned the question around: in the midst of social anomie, is the act of thinking necessary? Yes, it is a necessity, maybe a cultural compulsion. In these times, after the "springs of democratization", after the renewed mobilizations of the indignados, what seems to be out of the question, is going back to where we were – the leveling which the global systemic subjection imposes becomes geometric, it unfolds of itself.

We are gathering in large numbers in Buenos Aires to reflect. It is a consequence, the result of an action, a multiple associative will which realizes itself. The Forum becomes a horizon among our members that expands, recovers and renews itself. Perhaps we are moving towards a reading of the invisible side of our sociological planet, still insufficiently revealed by a sociology that makes itself present. This expansion of horizons is breaking molds, once concentric, once minimalist, once of the elites. The massive attendance opens up a discourse – related to our scientific concerns as well as to the condition of our existence without which there wouldn't be any science.

The Second ISA Forum brings us together to consider Social Justice and Democratization in our multiplied networks and the specialties of the research committees, in the struggle and in the inter-change of perspectives, and maybe also to share the twists and turns of the collective intellect in which we take part as an audience and as a symposium.

You all know, or sense, that we have struggled tirelessly for this meeting to take place. Our passionate fervor allows us to welcome you to the imagined intellectual agora of this ISA Forum to make of it a praxis, a fraternal bridge, a burst of ideas, a spring from which to drink and make this Forum our Forum, an international brand of creativity. Please let our Buenos Aires be yours.

Pequeña historia. Hace poco más que una década, en la crisis vivida en la Argentina durante 2001, el estallido económico, la crisis brutal de la moneda y su valor simbólico que dice parlamentar temporariamente en medio de la guerra social, el desalojo y el empobrecimiento, resumían en ese fatídico mes de diciembre una de las fracturas más grandes que acontecía en nuestra sociedad desde la cruenta dictadura (1976-1983); dicha crisis aconteció para nuestro asombro en plena democracia o en instancias democráticas. Este deshacimiento marcó una refundación, una bifurcación social, de allí hasta aquí la orilla se llenó de alertas que fueron acumuladas colectiva y subjetivamente.

Sea esta diminuta crónica, para decirles queridas y queridos colegas del orbe, que en aquellos días de fragmentación social, estallido de multitudes, ocurrió un hecho singular: la sociedad civil se dio cita para crear cientos de "fórum barriales"; el pueblo se reunía para pensar gregariamente una salida hacia "un cambio para un mundo vivible".

Nos hemos interrogado muchas veces sociológicamente en la academia sobre este hecho: ¿cómo es posible pensar colectivamente en medio de la devastación?, y actualmente hemos rotado la pregunta: ¿en medio de la anomia social es preciso pensar? Sí, se trata de una necesidad, quizás de una pulsión cultural. En estos días de hoy, luego de las "primaveras por la democratización", de las renovadas movilizaciones de los "indignados", lo excluido parece, como no puede ser de otro modo, retornar; lo aplanado que impone la sujeción sistémica global cobra geometría, se despliega.

Nos hemos dado cita multitudinariamente en Buenos Aires para reflexionar; se trata de un efecto, del resultado de una acción, una voluntad asociativa múltiple que se realiza, el Fórum se torna un horizonte al interior de nuestras membresías y se expande, se recupera y se renueva. Quizás estamos transitando una lectura del lado no visible de nuestro planeta sociológico, aún insuficientemente descubierto de una sociología presencial. Este oleaje va rompiendo moldes, otrora concéntricos, otrora minimalistas, otrora de élites. La presencia masiva inaugura un discurso, se trata por cierto de nuestros contenidos científicos, se trata también de la condición de nuestra presencia sin la cual la ciencia no existe.

Los temas del II ISA Fórum que nos convocan sobre Justicia Social y Democratización nos aguardan reticulares multiplicados en las especialidades de los comités de investigación, en la lucha y en el intercambio de perspectivas, quizás también para coincidir en las transversales del intelecto colectivo que protagonizamos como concurrencia y simposio.

Todas y todos saben, o intuyen, que hemos luchado denodadamente para encontrarnos, nuestro fervor casi apasionado es darles la ¡Bienvenida! a este ágora intelectual imaginada del Fórum ISA para hacerlo praxis, puente fraternal, como estallido del pensamiento, como fuente para abreviar-nos y hacer de este nuestro Fórum, una marca orbital de creatividad. Por favor, hagan suya y propia nuestra Buenos Aires.

Et en fait le printemps.*

(Tango: Afiches,

Un peu d'histoire. Il y a un peu plus de dix ans, pendant la crise qu'a subie l'Argentine en 2001, l'effondrement économique, la crise brutale de la devise nationale et sa valeur symbolique en plein milieu d'une guerre sociale, les expulsions et l'appauvrissement, résumaient, en ce mois fatidique de décembre, ce qui a constitué l'une des fractures les plus importantes de notre société depuis la sanglante dictature (1976-1983). À notre grand étonnement, cette crise est intervenue en pleine démocratie ou période démocratique. Cet effondrement a été le point de départ d'une refondation, d'un tournant social. Partout, on a entendu des signaux d'alarme qui s'accumulaient collectivement et subjectivement.

Après ce très bref rappel, chers collègues venus du monde entier, je voudrais vous dire qu'en ces temps de fragmentation sociale, d'explosion des masses, il est arrivé quelque chose de singulier : la société civile s'est rassemblée pour créer des centaines de «forums de quartier» ; le peuple s'est réuni pour tenter de trouver, ensemble, une issue vers «un changement pour un monde vivable».

Dans les milieux universitaires, nous nous sommes souvent interrogés là-dessus en termes sociologiques : Comment est-il possible de penser collectivement au milieu de la dévastation ? Et nous avons aujourd'hui retourné la question : dans un contexte d'anomie sociale, est-il nécessaire de penser ? Oui, il s'agit d'une nécessité, peut-être d'une pulsion culturelle. Ces temps-ci, suite aux « printemps pour la démocratisation », aux mobilisations renouvelées des « indignés », ce qui semble exclu – et il ne pourrait pas en être autrement – c'est de revenir en arrière ; le nivellement que l'assujettissement systémique mondial impose devient géométrique, il se déploie.

Nous nous sommes donné rendez-vous en masse à Buenos Aires, pour réfléchir ; il s'agit d'une conséquence, du résultat d'une action, une volonté associative multiple qui se réalise. Le Forum devient un horizon pour nos membres, et il s'étend, se reconstitue et se renouvelle. Il se peut que nous soyons en train de nous diriger vers une lecture du côté non visible de notre planète sociologique, encore insuffisamment exploré par une sociologie qui observe. Cette vague est en train de briser des moules, jadis concentriques, jadis minimalistes, jadis propres à des élites. La participation massive annonce un discours où il sera d'ailleurs question de nos contenus scientifiques, et aussi de la condition de notre présence sans laquelle la science n'existe pas.

Les thèmes du I^e Forum de l'ISA qui nous réunissent ici pour parler de justice sociale et de démocratisation figurent des réseaux multiples dans les différentes spécialités des comités de recherche, dans la lutte et l'échange de points de vue, peut-être aussi pour se retrouver sur les chemins de traverse de l'intellect collectif dont nous sommes les protagonistes en tant qu'assistance et que symposium.

Nous savons tous, ou en avons l'intuition, qu'il a fallu se battre inlassablement pour organiser cette rencontre. Et c'est avec beaucoup de ferveur que nous vous souhaitons la bienvenue à cette agora intellectuelle qu'est le Forum de l'ISA, pour en faire une praxis, un pont fraternel, telle une explosion de la pensée, telle une source où boire abondamment, et faire de ce Forum votre Forum, une marque de créativité qui rayonne à l'échelle internationale. Que notre ville de Buenos Aires soit la vôtre.

License controls are not enforced rigorously. There have been numerous reports of organized crime controlling the

Public transportation system

Subway

The Buenos Aires subway (locally known as subte, from "subterráneo" meaning underground or subway), is a high-yield system providing access to various parts of the city.

Fares are cheaper than that of city buses. The Buenos Aires underground has six lines which also have links to the commuter rail system.

Buses

There are over 150 city bus lines called colectivos, each one managed by an individual company. These compete with each other, and attract exceptionally high use with virtually no public financial support. Their frequency makes them equal to the subway systems of other cities, but buses cover a far wider area than the subway.

Colectivos do not have a fixed timetable, but run from four to six per hour, depending on the bus line and time of the day. With inexpensive tickets and extensive routes, usually no further than four blocks from commuters' residences, the colectivo is the most popular means of transport to move around the city. The ticket is sold on the bus and only coins are accepted.

In Conversation: Connecting Senior and Junior Sociologists at the Forum

This special 90 minute session with simultaneously run round tables will provide the opportunity for junior sociologists to engage with well-established and renowned sociologists in a more informal setting.

Starting with some introductory remarks from the senior sociologist at each roundtable, the session will be opened to answering questions from the junior sociologists. The ISA is committed to encouraging emerging sociologists and this session is one small but important initiative at the Forum to increase the dialogue among a global community of junior and senior sociologists.

New Initiative from the International Sociological Association

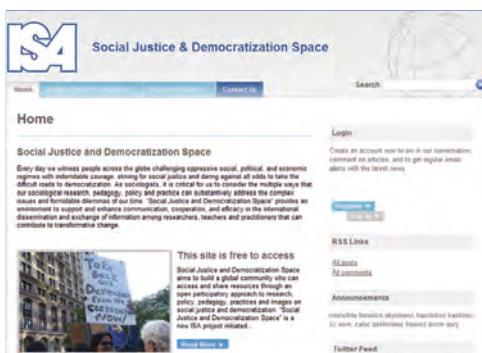

Social Justice & Democratization Space

Every day we witness people across the globe challenging oppressive social, political, and economic regimes. As sociologists, it is critical for us to consider the multiple ways that our sociological research, pedagogy, policy and practice can substantively address the complex issues and formidable dilemmas of our time.

Social Justice & Democratization Space provides an environment to support and enhance communication, cooperation, and efficacy in the international dissemination and exchange of information among researchers, teachers and practitioners that can contribute to transformative change.

How can you participate?

- The site will be available for all to access. Social Justice & Democratization Space aims to build a global community through an open participatory approach to research, pedagogy, policy, practices and images on social justice and democratization.
- You can access, submit, suggest and share resources in each of the categories on the site based around the themes of: Social Justice and Democratization, Gender and Human Rights, Social and Economic inequalities and Public Sociology.
- The site will be launched in August – to stay updated with developments about Social Justice & Democratization Space and on further initiatives from the International Sociological Association please visit <www.isa-sociology.org/>.
