Call for Special Issues 2022. Papers. Revista de Sociologia

Papers. Revista de Sociologia is pleased to announce the call for “Special Issues 2022”. Proposals should be sent before January 21, 2022, to the journal’s e-mail address: r.papers.sociologia@uab.cat

Proposals should include the following information:

1. Title of the special issue.
2. Name, affiliation, and a list of the 5 main publications of the coordinator(s).
3. General introduction of the proposal, including a brief justification of how it is related to sociology and the editorial line of Papers.
4. Abstracts of the articles should be included in the proposal, as well as names, affiliations, and a list of the 5 main publications of their authors.
5. Willingness to co-finance the edition of the special issue (this is not a condition for acceptance, which is decided based solely on quality criteria).

Special issues published by Papers contain between 6 and 8 articles. Proposals for special issues will be evaluated by the Editorial Board. If the proposal is accepted, all articles, except the introduction, will be submitted to the usual process for selecting original contributions and peer review, and must conform to the journal’s publication standards.

In the event that the proposed contributions are rejected or fail to meet the established deadlines, the editors of Papers reserve the right to accept new articles for publication in the special issue.