Dear Colleagues and Professors

We are seeking proposals for chapters for possible inclusion in the forthcoming 'The Palgrave Handbook of Global Social Problem' under consideration with Palgrave Macmillan (United Kingdom). Palgrave Handbooks are intended to offer authoritative and up-to-date surveys of original research in a particular subject area, with essays giving critical examinations of the progress and direction of debates, as well as a foundation for future research. Please send your proposed title, abstract (no more than 400 words), name, and affiliation to rajendra.baikady@mail.huji.ac.il by March 30, 2020.

Globalization in the 21st century has contributed for tremendous changes in world society. Countries across the world are facing issues such as poverty, climate change, population aging, issues related to immigration, migration, mental illness and rising income inequality. In addition, established world order and global dominance of the West-centric development agenda and modernity and the unequal distribution of world's resources have created tremendous problems for many people living in global as well as local communities both in developed and developing countries. This volume tries to understand the social problems in different social, political, economic and geographical boundaries across the globe. In addition, it also makes effort in understanding the factors influencing welfare provisions and formulation and delivery of policies and the programmes for the welfare of diverse communities.

The handbook welcomes contributions approaching social problems at different levels of society (whether local, regional, national, transnational) --the macro, meso and micro.

Identify and define the concrete social problem at various national and international scopes the handbook tries to - answers to following three questions:

- What do we know about the problem (i.e., what is the definition and extent of the problem)?
- How do we know this information (i.e., what are the sources of data about this problem)?
- What should be done, in terms of policy and social action to alleviate the problem (i.e., what are viable solutions for reducing, mitigating, solving, or abolishing the problem)?

The book is expected to be a major reference for expert reading. The Palgrave Handbooks comprise specially commissioned chapters combining cutting-edge research and review articles to produce high-quality, original reference works, which provide an unparalleled overview of a specific field of research, whilst also setting the agenda for future directions of the discipline. The study of social problems is at a turning point, along with social system itself. This book will capitalise on the emergence of a new paradigm, which considers social problems in the 21st century as globally interconnected and mediated by new geopolitical and market logics. This volume will showcase new approaches to social problems.

The handbook is multidisciplinary in approach and organized according to the following themes. We invite contributions from scholars around the world, particularly those who are in their early careers. Our aim is to make this handbook the first to go beyond Western-centric appraisals and present a truly global portrait. Contributions dealing with dynamics around the world are therefore solicited. Please consider the following rationale for your proposed papers. You may send your proposed title, abstract (no more than 400 words), name, and affiliation to Dr. Rajendra Baikady (rajendra.baikady@mail.huji.ac.il) by March 30, 2020.
